King Leaves March, But May Return

Meredith Hopes To Be On Road June 1 If Doctor Permits

COMO, Miss. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., whose presence has been a magnet to the Negroes marching through Mississippi, was gone from the head of the line today. But he promised to return immediately if the demonstration loses any impetus.

James H. Meredith, who originated the "march against fear" Sunday — and was wounded by birdshot and hospitalized the next day — said in New York he will be on the road again June 16 if his doctor permits. A civil rights group in Baltimore said it would join, too, after a rally Sunday.

"It is my belief from the warm reception received along the road, both in Tennessee and Mississippi, that my walk may have done something to alleviate the heavy burden of fear which rests upon Mississippi Negroes," Meredith said in a statement read to newsmen by a minister.

James Farmer, former director of the Congress of Racial Equality who walked with the group Thursday, told the 300 or more who participated:

"If the blood of James Meredith is not to be wasted, every Negro that can put one foot in front of another and lift a hand to a pen must register and vote. Meredith, 33, had covered 27 miles on the 225-mile walk from Memphis to Jackson, Miss., when he was shot near Hernando. He was trying to show that if a controversial Negro could walk unmolested down a Mississippi highway, other Negroes should not fear to register as voters.

The man charged with shooting Meredith, Aubrey James Norvell, 40, of Memphis, still is jailed unable to make $25,000 bond.

King and the others who took up the hike Tuesday added 21 miles the first three days relatively undisturbed. King was an obvious attraction to many of the marchers who flocked around him whenever he stopped.

Driver, 50, 'Serious' After Beaver Mishap

BEAVER FALLS — A Patterson Helgors resident was injured seriously Thursday night when his car crashed into a utility pole during a heavy rainstorm.

William H. White, 50, is in "critical" condition at Providence Hospital with a crushed chest, fractured left leg and severe scalp lacerations. Pennsylvania state police at the Chipewa Barracks said.

White was traveling on the Darlington Rd., three miles south of here, when his auto hit the pole at the intersection with 6th St., officers said.

Because of his severe injuries, officers have been unable to question the motorist relative to details.

Flood Warning Sounded

Alma Splashes Across Georgia

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — The remnant of Hurricane Alma, her might diminished after hitting the Florida Panhandle, is splashing through Georgia today.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami predicted rains up to eight inches along a wide path from Georgia to the Carolinas. The center warned of possible flooding.

Tornado-like winds apparently churned by Alma's dwindling strength were reported in several parts of Georgia.

But Alma no longer met hurricane standards with winds of 75 miles per hour or more. Her highest winds were estimated at 70 m.p.h., and reported ebbing. The early-season monster from the tropics, charged with 47 deaths in three nations, was reported moving northeastward from near Valdosta about 12 miles per hour.

Alma roared into the Florida Panhandle Thursday with winds estimated at 100 miles per hour. Some houses were damaged and pecan trees uprooted when high winds with characteristics of a tornado lashed rural section five miles northeast of Albany, Ga.

Another windstorm, also possibly a small tornado, struck west of Augusta, Ga., blowing away a tool shed and nearly uprooting a home.

Eleven soldiers were hospitalized at Fort Gordon near Augusta, Ga., when a bus overturned on wet pavement.

The storm's 47 fatalities represented 35 deaths in Honduras, near where the storm spawned with torrential rains last Monday.

Fresh Light On 1964 GOP Bid

Wasn't 'Knifed,' Scranton Says About Political Step

A week ago, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania announced his permanent retirement from elective office. In his revealing interview, he details his reasons and sheds some fresh light on his fight for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964.

By SAUL PETT AP Special Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton has slammed the door on active politics more tightly than any man since Sherman but not, he insists, because of any knife wounds in his back.

Many observers thought they detected an edge of bitterness in the absolute language used by the Pennsylvania governor last week: "I am not going to run ever again for any public office under any circumstances."

But Scranton, in an interview with The Associated Press, denied any feeling of bitterness or sense of having been stabbed in the alley by fellow Republicans in 1964. That was the year, when after a spectacular comedy of errors, the governor fought his last-minute, losing fight against day; seven in Cuba, and five in Florida.

Officials have not made any estimate of damage to Florida.

Damage to crops in food rationed Cuba was believed considerable. Tobacco, once Cuba's second important commodity, next to sugar, was reported a heavy casualty in western Cuba. Fidel Castro made an inspection tour of stricken areas near Havana and ordered speedy reconstruction.

Ohio Spared After Warning On Tornado

By The Associated Press Large segments of Ohio were put on "tornado watch" at times Thursday and Thursday night but no confirmed twisters touched down as heavy thunderstorms swept into the state from farther west.

There were damage reports in Medina County and around Cincinnati, but nothing severe. Lightning, hail and high winds hit at many points but nothing like southern Michigan where storms including a reported tornado wrought extensive damage to farms, homes and other structures.

At Weymouth in Medina County Thursday night high winds knocked down trees and power lines and moved a garage six feet. No funnel cloud was sighted.

An electrical storm at Cincinnati downed some wires and tree limbs—and sounded worse than actually, since lightning set off a Civil Defense siren in the Queen City's northern sector. Several power failures were reported.

Barry Goldwater for the presidential nomination.

Had former President Dwight D. Eisenhower pulled the rug out from under him? Eisenhower has said he never put the rug there in the first place. Scranton now says this:

"The general never said he'd support me but he certainly gave me a lot of encouragement. I never would have thought of going ahead if he hadn't. But I'm not blaming him. It was my own decision not his."

Scranton, at 48, still young-looking and lithe, in his button-down shirt and air of "cool" still suggesting the Ivy League and the Republican version of John F. Kennedy's followers had hoped to project in 1964, said he is quitting active politics to spend more time with his family.

He said he had never intended to make politics a career, never had presidential ambitions and thought seven "intensive" years in public service — two as a congressman, one in the State Department and four as governor — were enough. As governor (Turn to SCRANTON, Page 5)

Officers Seek Bombs Stolen Near Lisbon

Fireworks Taken As Thieves Enter Storage Buildings

LISBON — Columbiana County sheriff's deputies today pushed an investigation into the theft of 200 aerial bombs, described as "dangerous," from the Lisbon Fireworks Co., northwest of here.

Vincenzo Caruso, owner of the fireworks firm along Loggion Rd., reported the 9-inch color shell explosives which were to have been delivered today were stolen some time during the night.

He discovered the loss of the bombs, valued at $500, this morning and reported the theft at 6:15.

Caruso said the shells have short fuses and it would be dangerous for anyone without experience to set them off.

Deputy Herman (Cy) Wellman said the thieves broke into three storage buildings by removing nails from door hasps.

Retrial Due For Sheppard In 2nd Degree

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Samuel H. Sheppard will be retried on a second-degree murder charge in the 1954 bludgeoning-slaying of his first wife, Marilyn. Prosecutor John T. Corrigan said today.

Sheppard already has served nine years in prison on a second-degree murder conviction by a Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court jury Dec. 21, 1954. He has been free on $10,000 bond since July 16, 1964, while appealing on grounds he did not receive a fair trial.

The 42-year-old Sheppard, a former osteopath, had said he wanted a retrial so that he could establish his innocence, but was reluctant to submit his family to the ordeal that it would involve.

From the time of the killing in his suburban Bay Village home July 4, 1954, Sheppard has maintained he was innocent and his wife was slain by a bush-haired intruder.

The U. S. Supreme Court ruled 8-1 Monday, with Justice Hugo L. Black dissenting, that Sheppard should be released from custody or given another trial "within a reasonable time."

The high court based its ruling on the grounds that Sheppard did not receive a fair trial in 1954 because of "prejudicial news accounts" before and during the trial and because, the 29-page opinion said, "Bedlam reigned at the courthouse during the trial and newsmen took over."

Kill 239; Ky Sends 400 Riot Police To Monks' Stronghold

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. paratroopers battled a stubborn, dug in North Vietnamese force for the fourth day in the central highlands today, while Premier Nguyen Rao Ky's government sent 400 Vietnamese riot policemen into the northern Buddhist stronghold of Hue.

An American military spokesman said 239 North Vietnamese had been killed in the fighting, which began before dawn Tuesday with a Communist attack on a small U.S. encampment. But the spokesman added: "The count undoubtedly will go much higher. Those people up there are more interested in killing North Vietnamese than in counting bodies."

U.S. losses were reported light over-all, but one platoon was badly mauled.

U.S. planes had flown 167 sorties so far in the battle, which erupted anew Thursday night in the dense jungles of Kontum province 280 miles north of Saigon. Pitted against units of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division's 1st Brigade, as it prowled Communist infiltration routes near the Laotian border, were an estimated 900 North Vietnamese.

Fighting was reported heavy throughout the day and was still going on late this afternoon, the spokesman reported.

The size and determination of the enemy indicated the Communists might be moving to the offensive again after waiting futilely for the Buddhists to depose Ky.

As the premier sent riot police into Hue, the failure of the Buddhist campaign was underlined by an announcement that Ky would fly to South Korea Monday to attend a conference of nine non-Communist nations.

Ky's announcement coincided with a declaration by the junta that it had conferred broad new powers on the premier to deal with South Viet Nam's chronic economic and financial problems.

Both announcements buttressed the general impression that the ruling generals considered themselves firmly entrenched despite weeks of agitation by the country's militant Buddhist minority to oust them. Ky's office said the premier

Free Parking Slated At Ceramic Annex Lot

The so-called Ceramic Annex lot south of E. 4th St. will be opened to free parking Saturday following installation of a six-inch compacted slag base by the Tri-State Asphalt Corp., the contractor, Safety Service Director Robert E. Voderhey said today.

The free parking policy may remain in effect approximately 30 days. When the earthen fill and the slag are compacted adequately, a blacktop surface and meters will be installed. Since the lot is not lined, a "Meter Maid" will be stationed at the site tomorrow to assure that cars are parked "in some definite pattern" that will make maximum use of the space and allow easy access, the director said. When the lot is surfaced and metered, it will allow spaces for 70 more autos.

Wellsville Resident

Driver, 77, Dies As Auto Hurtles 65 Feet In Air

County's 1966 Traffic Toll 12 KILLED This date in 1965—14 killed DRIVE WRECKLESSLY

A 77-year-old retired railroad employe from Wellsville was fatally injured when his car veered off the Old Salineville Rd., hurtled some 65 feet through the air and plunged nose first into the ground at the foot of a steep embankment Thursday night.

George M. Headley of 501 11th St., Wellsville, was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital following the mishap at 8:20 about 1.2 miles west of Wellsville.

THE OHIO Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Headley was driving east in a 1963 sedan which went off the roadway on a curve and traveled along the south berm 72 feet before crossing the highway and careening over the steep 70-foot hillside.

The auto plunged into the foot of the embankment and the impact threw the driver through the windshield, the patrol reported. He suffered a fractured skull, fractured pelvis, lacerations of the face and chest injuries.

He apparently died en route to the hospital in an ambulance.

The death was the 12th traffic fatality in Columbiana County this year, compared with 14 at this time in 1965.

WELLSVILLE police were notified of the accident at 8:25. The call was relayed to the patrol and two Wellsville officers went to the scene to stand by until the patrol arrived.

When the serious condition of the driver was observed, one of the officers assisted in the ambulance, while the other used the cruiser to escort the ambulance to the hospital.

Wellsville volunteer firemen were summoned when the wiring on the car caught fire as a wrecker was attempting to pull the vehicle back up the steep hillside. Firemen said the blaze was minor, but there was danger of setting fire to the surrounding woods.

Ten men answered the alarm and remained at the scene until the car was removed.

Mr. Headley was born in Wellsville Sept. 24, 1888, a son of the late John Headley and Emma Roberts Headley. He also had resided in Cleveland.

He had been employed with the Pennsylvania Railroad for more than 50 years, having been a switchman at the Wellsville Yards. He later was transferred to Cleveland, where he worked for more than 30 years before retiring in 1955.

He was a member of the Wellsville First Christian Church and the Brotherhood of

In Wake Of Tornado

Homeless Pose Major Problem

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — The problems of caring for several thousand persons left homeless by a tornado which took 16 lives faced city officials today.

Most of those whose homes were lost or heavily damaged in the disaster put up temporarily with friends, relatives and strangers. Four Red Cross shelters were open in schools and the municipal auditorium.

About 70 persons were hospitalized with storm injuries, and at least 61 spent a second night in hospitals. Another 260 persons received outpatient treatment at hospitals.

Fifteen deaths occurred in Topeka — hardest hit of several towns struck by tornadoes in a brief span Wednesday night. One man was killed about 20 miles northeast of Topeka.

Many persons made offers of temporary housing for the homeless.

The Salvation Army and Red Cross operated field kitchens around the city to feed the homeless, and rescue and repair personnel rushed in from other cities.

President Johnson telephoned regrets of the nation and offered aid.

Gov. William Avery and officials of the federal Office of Emergency Planning ordered damage estimates which could lead to federal disaster grants for stricken areas.

Mayor Charles W. Wright Jr. planned to ask nearby cities for equipment and personnel to help clear debris. Some had already sent aid and others offered anything needed.

Heavy tree trunks, chunks of buildings, and battered cars littered many parts of town, even after a full day of cleanup which succeeded in opening all streets to some degree. One city official said the cleanup chore is expected to take at least four weeks.

The tornado was the worst in the city's history. It skipped over a mound at the southwest edge of town shortly before dusk Wednesday and, ranging up to one-half mile wide, it swept a 15-mile path of death and destruction through the city.

3 Killed, 1 Injured

In Pennsylvania Crash

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa. (AP)—A car-truck collision today on a rain-slick highway near Beaumont killed at least three persons and injured a fourth, state police report.

Police said the victims were believed to have been high school pupils from Wilkes-Barre. One of the injured was taken to Nesbitt Memorial Hospital in Kingston and authorities said he may have been critically injured. The accident occurred on Route 309.

Policeman Shot Down By Own Gun

Assailant Leaped Through Window And Fled On Foot

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A young man arrested on multiple charges shot and killed a policeman with his own gun early today at the Public Safety Building in downtown Pittsburgh.

The assailant leaped through a window and fled on foot, touching off a massive manhunt that ended with the capture of a man named as the killer 1½ hours later.

Patrolman Joseph Gaetano, 36, of the city's North Side was shot as he escorted the accused man to the police identification section in the Public Safety Building, officials said.

They identified the accused as Edward E. Bittner, 21, also of the North Side, and said he had been arrested Thursday night on charges of larceny, burglary, receiving stolen goods and corrupting the morals of a minor.

Every available policeman in the city was called out after the slaying. Roadblocks were set up at key points.

A squad of officers finally located Bittner on the roof of a building in the Uptown section, and subdued him without incident.

Bittner was taken to Mercy Hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises suffered, officials said, in escaping from the Public Safety Building.

Officials said Bittner seized Gaetano's 38-caliber service revolver and fired one shot into the officer's left side. It happened as Bittner was being taken for identification and booking on the third floor, officials reported.

They said Bittner ran down to the mezzanine floor and out a window, dropping about 15 feet to the ground.

Officers Push Probe Into Market Robbery

Police are exploring every conceivable avenue in a continuing investigation of an armed robbery Wednesday night at the Loblaw, Inc., Market on Dresden Ave. in which two men garbed in coveralls escaped with $3,000 to $3,500, Capt. Robert H. Pyle said today.

The initial investigation was hampered by the fact there was a lapse of five to six minutes before the holdup report was telephoned to headquarters, the captain said. That interval would have allowed the bandits to flee four or five miles in an auto, he pointed out.

The investigation disclosed that Marvin Stewart of Dakota Ave., assistant manager, remained in the store's office five to six minutes after the bandits left, the captain said. The holdup men told him to sit in a chair "and don't do anything" or he would be shot by a third man lurking outside the store with a gun, the captain pointed out.

More than 2.3 million youths graduated from public high schools last year, an increase of 45.2 per cent in five years.

Corak Seeks New Term As Party's Head

Burgess Eli Corak of Midland announced today he will be a candidate for re-election as Beaver County Democratic chairman.

Corak said he will run along with Lois Wood of Beaver Falls, vice chairman, and James J. Camp of Rochester, treasurer.

The election is scheduled to be held within two weeks, but the date and place are to be announced.

Meanwhile, the county Republican committee will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. at Beaver Junior High auditorium to elect officers. Russell O. Wright of Franklin Township, incumbent chairman, will be opposed for re-election by Dr. George Campbell of Beaver Falls.

Corak, who also is county commissioner, said his decision to seek re-election was "based on a determination to keep the affairs of the party on a high level and a desire to oppose any change in the rules of the committee which would alter the party's approach to good government."

"It has been indicated to me that there are others who aspire to the chairmanship and have sought support by making promises which no legitimate county chairman could support or fulfill."

District Boy Bumped By Car In Beechwood

A 13-year-old Beechwood youth was treated Thursday night at City Hospital for bruises of the left arm received when bumped by an auto while walking along Anderson Blvd. late yesterday afternoon.

Ricky Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Crawford of 1730 Anderson Blvd., was with two other boys returning from the Thompson Park pool when a passing auto went off the highway and bumped the boy.

He said the driver halted the auto and asked if he were all right, then drove on.

Suspect Identified

EAST PALESTINE—Youngstown police said Thursday afternoon they are holding Leonard J. Sheppard, 20, of Youngstown as a suspect in the theft of a $4,800 sports car Wednesday afternoon from Brittain Motors, Inc., on E. Martin St. The suspect was taken into custody Wednesday night at Youngstown, but his name was not made public at the time.

Democrats Open Organizing Drive In East Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A move to strengthen the Democrat party in East Palestine was launched during a meeting of party members Thursday night at the City Hall.

Plans for forming separate men's and women's organizations were made, with Richard Hill and George Malena heading the organization of the men and Mrs. Jessye Dennis the women.

Don R. Gosney, county Democratic chairman, pledged his support and declared he personally will have 100 names of men members within 30 days.

County Judge Herbert Arfman also pledged his aid. Roy Allen of Columbiana spoke at the meeting, attended by 25.

Democratic Club Sets Picnic Plans

Plans were advanced for a family picnic Aug. 10 during the meeting of the Federated Democratic Women's Club Thursday night at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex.

Mrs. Freda Skvarka, new president, presided.

The outing will be held at Thompson Park, Pavilion 1, beginning at 6 p. m.

The new president also appointed Mrs. Norman Bucher, retiring president, to the executive board; Mrs. Sherman Quigley, chaplain, and Mrs. Lawrence Applegate, flower fund.

The social committee for Thursday's meeting included Mrs. Walter Coleman, Mrs. Clarence Crubaugh and Mrs. Quigley.

The next meeting will be July 14 at the annex.

80 Attend Bi-County Beef Raisers' Meeting

LISBON — An approaching thunderstorm was delayed just long enough Thursday night to permit a full program at the Columbiana - Mahoning beef raisers twilight meeting at Fernald Farm on Route 224 east of Canfield.

Farm manager Ed Taylor conducted a tour and discussed farming operations for the 80 adults and 4-H'ers.

William Wharton, extension specialist in animal science at Ohio State University, conducted a judging session with the boys and girls, and discussed the proper way to show beef cattle and to get the animals ready for the fair. Wharton also discussed the beef production testing program in Ohio.

The Making Of A Candidate

We are seeing one of the early stages in the making of another candidate for the presidency of the United States—Ronald Reagan, an actor, who has won the Republican nomination for governor of California.

Reagan, once an enthusiastic New Dealer, now is an enthusiastic ultra-conservative. If he wins against California Gov. EDMUND G. Brown next November, he will be in position to lead the ultra-conservative bloc Barry Goldwater was leading in 1964 when he won the Republican nomination for president of the United States.

In this early stage of Reagan's development, the main necessity for his backers is to develop him as a political personality. This is tricky. The backers of Goldwater, Nixon, Eisenhower, Dewey, Willkie and Hoover all learned how tricky when they had to do it.

From now on, everything he has learned in the art of acting will be needed by candidate Reagan. He has been given a role to play. Writers will prepare scripts for him. Pollsters will feel audience reactions for him.

The pace of preparation will be stepped up month by month during the rest of 1966. The 1968 presidential campaigning will start in earnest as soon as the votes are counted next November. All the hopefuls have their eye provisionally on 1968—hoping something might happen to President Johnson's record-breaking popularity in the 1964 election. But the real race will be in 1972, when all contestants will be going to the post for the first time.

Will Ronald Reagan be among them? Will

Bobby Kennedy be among them? Will Hubert Humphrey be among them? The making of a presidential candidate is a wondrous thing. Many are hopeful, but like the animals entering the ark they must enter two at a time. All others are left behind to drown in political oblivion.

X For Experimental

It is a tossup whether the crash of a huge experimental bomber and a chase plane that crashed in the desert with it won't be overshadowed by the loss of the two great pilots who died in the collision and the injuries to the third. The planes can be duplicated. The pilots are irreplaceable.

Maj. Carl Cross died in the wreckage of XB40A, one of two experimental planes built at a cost so far of $12 billion. He was the plane's co-pilot. The chief pilot, Al White, was injured. The pilot of the chase plane, Joseph A. Walker, was killed.

The XB70's, like all new planes developed with public funds, is controversial. The reason for its development is not clear. It is designed to be a supersonic bomber at a time when long-range bombing by planes is being phased out. In that respect, it is a kind of aeronautical hedge against disenchantment with rocket delivery of hydrogen bombs if the time ever comes to use them.

The XB40A is not a prototype of the supersonic passenger plane the Johnson administration is whipping up. That will be another billion dollars plus for the plane-building industry.

Still Room For The Arts?

Once more the United States is being heartily assured that things never were rosier for the new crop of college graduates.

They're even rosier than they once were for high school graduates when any bright young man with a diploma could start at the bottom and work his way to the top.

This is because there isn't any bottom any more—not in the old-time sense. Today's college graduates, provided they have what enterprise is willing to pay for, start in the middle and work their way either up or down, depending on how things turn out.

Not all college graduates have what enterprise is willing to pay for, however—and this is one not-so-bright facet of a glittering era. Some did not go to college with a view to preparing for a job. They shared a point of view going out of fashion—that humans acquire education for the sake of learning about the arts and anything else is vocational training.

This is liberal arts education. Some enterprises have sent their promising junior executives back to school to get it later, at the employers' expense. A few enterprises hire liberal arts graduates with a view to giving them vocational training on the job.

But by and large, vocationally trained graduates are being referred to when reports are issued that everything is rosy for June graduates living but not for immediate employment at high wages, surrounded with fringe benefits a foot thick.

Time Can't Wait

The late John Foster Dulles, a container and isolator of Communism, believed time was on the side of anti-Communists. He thought Communists would veer away from Marxism, as they had been doing in the Soviet Union under Khrushchev.

It was a significant thought for the Eisenhower administration's secretary of state to carry in his mind. He, himself, sometimes left the impression he must corner Communism personally and push it over the cliff in his own lifetime. Yet, he could put faith in time to solve his most obsessive problem.

But now comes Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin to muse publicly that time will take care of the breach between Russian and Chinese Communist. In an interview within the last year, Ho Chi Minh, strong man of North Viet Nam, said time would take care of Americans in South Viet Nam. He said they would get tired of waging an interminable war and leave.

Time solves all problems and heals all wounds.

It's the ultimate cure for everything—if only we had time to wait for it! John Foster Dulles is dead. Nikita Khrushchev is moribund. Ho Chi Minh is an old man. Time couldn't wait for them. Nor could it wait for thousands who have been killed trying to hurry up events in Southeast Asia. Time, as the man used to say on a once-famous radio program, marches on!

'Building Bridges'

WASHINGTON

President Johnson's administration has a pet phrase now, being worked for all its worth, on improving relations with the Chinese Communists. It calls for "building bridges" to Red China.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey used it this week in addressing West Point's graduating class. And Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara used it last month. The Red Chinese brushed it off.

This leaves the relationship between the two countries where it was 16 years ago this month.

In December 1949, the Red Chinese drove Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalist Chinese from the mainland to Formosa. The United States, which had pumped billions of aid to Chiang, had given up on him, washed its hands.

On Jan. 5, 1950, President Harry S. Truman said that whatever happened between Chiang and the Reds was their business and the United States would not defend Formosa. June 25 the Korean War began.

AND ON June 27 Truman, to protect the American flank in the Pacific, revealed himself and decided to defend Formosa. The United States has been stuck with that assignment ever since.

And in all the intervening years, or ever since Red China swept into the Korean War late in 1949, the most powerful nation on earth and the most populated one have been unyielding antagonists, sometimes looking ludicrous.

Although the United States never has recognized the Red regime as the legitimate government of China, ever since 1954, U.S. and Chinese representatives have been meeting in Geneva and Warsaw, but hardly hearing each other.

Sen. George D. Aiken, Vermont Republican, put the proper twist on this bit of irony: "How are you going to recognize Red China when Red China won't recognize us."

The United States won't trade with Red China, has tried to discourage allies from doing so, and down through the years always has blocked any effort to give Red China a seat in the United Nations.

Red China, claiming to be lord of the mainland and Formosa, insists Chiang's Formosa has no right to a U.N. seat, which it has, and the United States, stuck with Formosa, must insist it can't be thrown out.

Lately the Johnson administration, because of the danger of war with the Chinese over the war in Viet Nam, has been under pressure to be less rigid toward the Chinese Communists who have been just as rigid in return.

THIS EXPLAINS the phrase the administration has been spreading about the need to "build bridges." But the Chinese call this a fraud and point to a statement by Secretary of State Dean Rusk last March.

He laid down a 10-point policy for dealing with Red China, including such points as these: The United States will help nations which seek its help against Chinese aggression; will stay loyal to Formosa; will continue to try to keep the United Nations from expelling Formosa.

Humphrey added to the policy by calling for "containment" of Red China "without isolation." The Red Chinese call it a hoax, arguing that "containment" is the real U.S. policy and "without isolation" is false.

The United States made a few ice-breaking gestures of no great importance, like letting Chinese scholars and scientists come here, but China said no.

The Johnson administration has been rather vague on how to build the bridges. Humphrey in his talk never said how and McNamara suggested maybe balanced trade, diplomatic contacts and exchange of military observers.

Odd Facts

The 10 largest islands in the world are Greenland, 840,000 square miles; New Guinea, 340,000 square miles; Borneo, 290,000 square miles; Madagascar, 228,000 square miles; Baffin Island, 198,000 square miles; Sumatra, 164,000 square miles; Honshu (Japan), 90,000 square miles; Great Britain, 90,000 square miles; Victoria, 80,000 square miles; and Ellesmere, 77,000 square miles.

Rhode Island, the smallest state in the U.S., is also the most densely populated—812.4 persons per square mile. By contrast, the least densely populated state is Alaska, which averages 0.4 people per square mile.

Probably the largest flower in the United States is a species of magnolia known as the umbrella tree. This species has flowers ranging from eight to 15 inches in diameter.

Probably the longest feathers in the world are those of the cockbirds of the Japanese long-tailed fowls, with tail coverts as long as 24 feet.

New Tricks For An Old Dog?

Hoffa Confident Despite Jail Threat

By Victor Riesel

Contrary to Oscar Wilde, a business agent of olden times, the warden will not despair if Jimmy Hoffa goes to jail in the coming five years.

He will remain as president "irregardless."

Jim Hoffa will be unanimously re-elected during the 19th Brotherhood of Teamsters' convention opening July 4th in Miami Beach — and virtually unanimously will set up machinery so he can administer the big union from a prison cell and then return to office. His imprisonment, if it ever actually develops, will be referred to as a "disability."

Hoffa, now a more demure and quiet man of 53, has solid support for all this from the very same Executive Board which has many times been reported in the public prints as in "open revolt." It is not and truly never has been rebellious.

During the March quarterly high-command meeting of the Teamsters' 13 vice presidents, Hoffa faced them square on.

HE ASKED EACH one if they wanted to stay on his slate at the national convention or peel off into independent action. One by one, including the alleged rebels, Harold Gibbons of St. Louis, the Brotherhood's intellectual, and Einar Mohr, the Brotherhood's "unimpeachable," pledged loyalty to the Hoffa slate.

Thus all opposition disappeared.

And during the convention, the 2,000 official delegates will vote for a constitutional change creating an executive vice president.

He will be the 12th vice president, Frank Fitzsimmons, now closest to the "Chief." Should Hoffa become "disabled," Brother Fitzsimmons automatically will take his place as provisional president.

There will be no national convention to select a successor.

There will be no doubt that Hoffa's fellow Detroiters, "Fitz," will take his guidance from "Jimmy."

Thus impulsive, explosive Hoffa is assured of at least five years of continuity to add to his nine years in the president's chair.

This will keep him in office until 1971 — just one year before the U.S. presidential election, in which his friend Robert Kennedy is expected to figure.

At the rate justice grinds, Hoffa may be able to get another crack at the Teamsters' presidency.

The Supreme Court may be considering his various appeals in July 1971.

It took the court three years to dispatch the Teamsters' 11th vice president, Anthony (Tony Pro) Provenzano, to prison. Now that gladiator is in the Lewisburg, Pa. Federal Prison — still throwing more appeals at the high bench than Sandy Koufax heaves curves.

Even Tony Pro has the situation well in hand. His brother Sam now is president of Local 560, third largest Teamsters' Union in the world.

Victor Riesel

and a bastion which junior will hold until the older brother is "vindicated." Then back goes the $100,000-a-year job to Tony.

HOFFA WILL NOT be idle while the Supreme Court analyzes his chain-reaction appeals. He certainly will push through a dues increase which will give the Teamsters' National Office $9 million more a year.

Some of this will go for $10,000 annual raises for the vice presidents and almost 100 national organizers.

A bit of it will go to increase his $75,000 annual salary.

But the bulk will go to new organizing drives. Hoffa may be quieter but he is not less bitter. He believes the rest of the labor movement betrayed and left him.

So he'll drive into areas where there are unorganized to organize. His target will be agricultural workers, warehouse workers, commercial airline employees, big mills in the South's burgeoning industrialism.

He will be careful of his public relations. He has even had his San Francisco supporters call off a testimonial dinner which had been scheduled for May 10.

It's all a long way from the turbulence of the 50s. The fiery bantam apparently has decided that 15 years of living under the glare of television lights, the thunder of massed reporters and the discomfort of endless witness chairs are enough. All that now stand between him and 13 years of jail are two possible prison terms.

He apparently has taken care of that contingency now.

Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Dean Rolley of Wellsville was graduated from the School of Chemical Engineering at the University of Pittsburgh.

Miss Mary Rolley won the golf flag tournament sponsored by women of the East Liverpool Country Club. The trophy was presented by Mrs. C. A. Bough.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — James D. Plunkett and James A. Yost, both of Wellsville, and John Rodu of Lisbon passed their pre-induction exams in Cleveland.

Residents of Calcutta took steps to provide adequate school facilities.

Deputy Dog Warden Allen Edwards rescued a stray dog from a four-foot light well in a window below ground level at a Maine Blvd. home.

TEN YEARS AGO — Mr. and Mrs. Walter Allison and sons John and Jason of Georgetown left for a vacation in Canada.

Jay Sanford of East Liverpool was one of five centers named to participate in the 14th annual Ohio Valley All-Star Football game at Wheeling stadium in August.

"We prefer to call it a 'tentative diagnosis,' Mr. Fig by . . . not 'guesswork'!"

More Letters Support Chan

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Since I am a part of this wonderful society of Americans, I feel that it is time I used my freedom of speech in order to help right a drastic wrong.

I am a member of the 1966 graduating class of East Liverpool High School. I was also a member of Mr. Chan's math classes for the last three years, besides being in his registration room my Senior year.

I've gotten to know Mr. Chan as a wonderful friend and teacher. He has come to mean a great deal to me. Therefore, I would like to express my thoughts on the subject of his being fired.

When I first heard about the incident, I was shocked. Yes, shocked. Of all the teachers in our schools that shouldn't even be teaching, the Board of Education and whoever else was involved, had to pick on the best. All I've ever heard since I entered high school is that East Liverpool can't keep its teachers and that the turnover in teachers is a serious problem.

Well, once you know the problem that's supposed to be half the battle. Now, three years later, the problem not only still exists, but it has been intensified. Now the school system is throwing out its really good teachers besides the ones it loses for other reasons. What is the younger generation supposed to look forward to?

In my opinion, and I know I speak for hundreds, Mr. Chan is the best teacher East Liverpool has ever had. My Senior Math V class was studying a third-year college math course. Why, I ask you, should a man so equipped to teach college math be willing to stay in a small town like East Liverpool? He does like the kids here, and he likes living here, but the salary is nothing great, we all know that. And too, the people apparently don't know a good thing when they see it.

As I think back over my past 12 years of school, and the teachers I've had, I can't think of one who has taught me as much or who has meant as much to me as Mr. Chan has.

Why is Mr. Chan being fired? This question is one that has been going through my mind and the minds of many people during the last two days. Even Mr. Chan isn't sure of the answer. Why? Why? Why? I'm going to ask that question over and over again until a satisfactory answer is given.

CYNTHIA CROYLE
175 Thompson Ave.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

What can we, the taxpayers and citizens of East Liverpool, do to right the wrong done to a fine teacher and coach like Frank Chan?

Do we wait until the next election and not vote for Smith, McConville and Dunlop, or can we railroad them out of their positions like they did to Mr. Chan?

The board members are supposed to represent the people and when they cease to do this their usefulness is over.

It's a sorry state of affairs when the Board of Education assumes this dictatorial attitude without any regard to the wishes of the people. Some will say it is our own fault because we voted for them. This is true, but on the other side of the coin is the fact that one cannot know what one will do until one is elected.

Mr. Blair has stated 27 teachers are leaving the school system, yet three members of the board are willing to let this fine teacher go, too.

The big question is this: Who really wants Mr. Chan out? If the board gets away with this, what else are we in for?

What are the reasons Smith, McConville and Dunlop gave for their refusal not to renew Frank's contract?

Mrs. Dunlop had absolutely nothing to say. Harry McConville said there were many reasons of policy, whatever that means, and Richard Smith says, and I quote, "I don't have to talk to you" and "I don't have to be badgered."

Now I ask you, is this the kind of representation we want?

Let us also put to an end those secret meetings behind closed doors. Make each and every meeting open to the public so that we may see the knife before it is thrust.

MRS. LOUISE CONKLE
954 Grandview Ave.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I was horrified to learn of the release of Frank Chan as head basketball coach at ELHS, as I am sure many others were.

As a manager of the basketball team under Coach Chan for three years, he is, in my opinion, and in the opinion of many others, one of the best high school coaches in this area.

He did a tremendous job last season with a team that was handicapped with a height problem. His ability as a coach can be seen when you look back on his two-year record as our head coach. When figured up, his record comes to a total of 21 wins and 15 defeats. This surely is no reason for his dismissal. Also, Coach Chan was well liked by the players themselves — and this is a vital point in his favor.

Besides being a good coach, Mr. Chan is one of the best teachers in our school and in the state and I'm sure that the Math Department of our high school cannot afford to lose a teacher of his caliber.

In closing, I would like to say that in my opinion the Board of Education has made a great mistake in letting Coach Chan go and it will be a loss to our community and our high school. I feel that this act has been very unfair and unjust.

Board To Air $3,695 Offer For Machine

An offer of $3,695 apparently was the only acceptable offer filed with the Board of Public Utilities Thursday afternoon for purchase of a machine to be used in cleaning sewers.

The bid was filed by the Flexible Pipe Tool Co. of Dallas, Tex., a division of the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh.

W. H. Stewart, Inc., of Syracuse, N. Y., filed a $3,290 bid, but conceded that the machine does not meet the board's specifications.

The offers were taken under advisement by the board, which administers the city water and sewage departments. The members indicated action will be taken within two weeks.

The Texas firm said its machine meets the board's specifications. It promised delivery within 30 days after a contract is signed and said the city may take the device on a 30-day trial basis, if it wishes. The firm also said it will train a city crew in operation of the device at no additional cost.

The New York firm said its machine "differs from the board's specifications, but accomplishes the same end result."

The device is known as a sewer-rodding machine. The board specified equipment capable of carrying 1,000 feet of 5-16-x-39-inch sectional steel rods, with a nine-horsepower air-cooled motor, starter, generator and 12-volt battery.

Yesterday's meeting was one of the last for Howard A. Moore as a member of the unsalaried board. His term expires July 1.

Moore has been a member of the board approximately five years under an appointment by former Mayor Bert H. Goodballe. He said he has asked not to be appointed to a new term by Mayor George E. Willshaw because of illness in his family.

The other two members have served since the board was established about 14 years ago. They are W. O. Schneider, chairman, and Francis J. Cloran.

Continuance Set In Auto Episode

LISBON — Fred A. Whittington 34, of Malvern was granted continuance of arraignment Thursday in Southwest Area Court on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Whittington told Acting Judge Richard Kennedy he had no lawyer and no money to hire one. Judge Joel H. Sharp of Common Pleas Court then appointed William Bush of Wells-ville to represent the defendant.

Whittington was returned to the County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bond. The hearing date has not been scheduled. He is charged with taking a 1965 station wagon owned by William Welsh of Lisbon Tuesday night from a Lisbon St. and driving it to East Liverpool and back.

In another southwest area court case, Wesley Thompson Jr., 18, of Minerva R.D. waived a preliminary hearing, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and was bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,000 bond.

He remains in jail where he has been since his arrest May 21 by sheriff's deputies and Hanover Township police investigating the theft of building material and tools from the Daniel Delp Jr. property near Dungan-non.

More than 200 species of ocean fish are known or believed to be venomous. Among them are stingrays, scorpion fish and certain sharks.

Scranton

nor, he leaves his dark, heavily oak-paneled office on Jan. 17, ineligible by law to succeed himself.

As to the events of 1964, where late in the game he became the last hope of the anti-Goldwater Republicans against the conservative Goldwater and now appears resigned to becoming an historical footnote, Scranton expressed a reluctance to "re-hash" them. But at a reporter's urging, he did discuss those events and, during the interview, said much he has never said before.

He said the only lingering regret he had about 1964 was that he failed to go through with a planned statement in April completely withdrawing from the presidential race.

"It would," he said, "have been a more honest approach and I would have felt better about it. Another moderate might have surfaced although that remains doubtful."

But Pennsylvania Republicans, he said, talked him out of his withdrawal statement on the grounds that that would have opened up a unified state delegation to sharp division.

On June 2, 1964, Goldwater beat Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York in the California primary. For all practical purposes, Rockefeller was eliminated. Goldwater had a huge lead in the delegate votes and only the slimmest mathematical possibility remained to beat him.

"The California primary was pretty convincing," Scranton recalls. "I knew I had no real chance of beating Goldwater. But I thought it was worth the effort to hold up the head of the Republican party as I knew it so that people wouldn't think Goldwater's views represented the whole party."

On June 6 he was invited to Gettysburg for a conference with Eisenhower, in which Scranton thought he was being encouraged to run. The next day he went to Cleveland for the now-famous governor's conference. He was all set to announce his candidacy on a television show that day.

"But then I got that famous telephone call," says Scranton. "in which Gen. Eisenhower said he was not part of any cabal against Goldwater. I knew then he would not come to Cleveland to endorse me. I knew then that I was dead."

"I figured I'd have to die fast. So I died on that TV show that day. I wish-washed all over the place and said things like I didn't really differ so much with Goldwater. Anyway, I got dead."

"At the moment, the Republican governors in Cleveland thought the cause of the moderates was dead. So did Rockefeller. But then suddenly George — Gov. George C. Romney of Michigan — denounced Goldwater and said his nomination would be disastrous for the party. We spent the next two days trying to persuade George to run but he wouldn't. I was never clear as to what Richard Nixon was doing."

The anti-Goldwater Republicans were now in complete disarray. Scranton went home to Indiantown Gap, Pa. On June 10, Sen. Goldwater voted against cloture to shut off debate on the civil rights bill.

"I was terribly disturbed by Goldwater's vote," Scranton says. "Strangely enough, Gen. Eisenhower called me that day for my reaction to Goldwater's vote. I told him in no uncertain terms. He said he was certainly happy to hear that."

"That day I decided someone had to oppose Goldwater and I would. I knew then, 33 days before the convention, that I didn't have a chance. But I obviously was a St. John the Baptist."

County Home Doctor Fees Are Outlined

LISBON — Columbiana County Commissioners and a Lisbon physician reached agreement Thursday on terms for medical care of County Home patients. Commissioners requested Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis to draw up a one-year contract with Dr. Reinhold Rankis and make it retroactive to April 1 when he began visiting the home.

The physician will receive $25 plus costs of medication on regular visits to see county home patients; $5 and $7 respectively for day and night calls, and $5 per trip to see County Home patients at Salem City Hospital and Salem Central Clinic.

Commissioners approved payment of $41.43 to Hallie Bishop Circle 72, James Garfield Post, Columbiana, for Memorial Day expenses.

Butler Township trustees were granted $300 for road maintenance.

Commissioners approved the plat of Frank M. Fisher's Third Addition to Stagecoach Settlement in the southeast quarter of Section 26, St. Clair Township. The layout shows five lots totaling 1.95 acres on the south side of Stagecoach Rd.

Chester Firemen Again Make Call On False Alarm

Another false alarm in a series plaguing Chester firemen this week was received shortly after 2 a.m. today, a department spokesman reported.

The caller, addressing the custodian on duty by name, identified himself as Don Chaney, operator of a gas station on upper Carolina Ave., and said, "Send up a fire truck right away. The pumps are on fire."

The spokesman surmised that the same person or group of persons is responsible for the false reports and that "it is someone well acquainted with the town who seems to be doing this out of spite."

Firemen had returned from another call about midnight, when they extinguished a fire in the enclosed back porch of the residence of Frank Dales of Railroad St.

Fire damage resulted to the porch and kitchen of the home, with heavy smoke damage in the remainder of the structure. The cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Ohio Youth Drowns In Lake In Arkansas

STAMPS, Ark. (AP)—An Ohio boy swimming with other youngsters in Lake Erling, south of here, drowned after he slipped on a diving board and fell.

The victim, Charles Lynd, 17, of Washington Court House, Ohio, struck his head on the side of the board and submerged in the lake Wednesday. He had been visiting at a lakeside cabin owned by his uncle, S. J. Dixon of Shreveport, La.

2 More Ohio Soldiers Killed In Viet Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army men from Cincinnati and New Carlisle, Ohio, appeared on Thursday's Defense Department report of Viet Nam combat deaths.

Killed were Pfc. Paul H. Greene, whose mother, Mrs. Nora L. Greene, lives in Cincinnati, and Pfc. Robert A. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hill of New Carlisle, Clark County.

This is a ratio of about one teacher per 24.9 classroom pupils, a National Education Association report has disclosed.

First Lady Dedicates Garden

Philadelphia Beauty Law
Hailed By Mrs. Johnson

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson today hailed Philadelphia's "1 per cent beautification ordinance" — passed seven years ago — as a milestone of foresight by a city government.

It provides that 1 per cent of the cost of any project paid for with public funds be set aside for fine arts-approved beautification.

The first lady said that unique clause "has paid off" and "will continue to pay off" in added pleasure for all who live or visit this historic city, which once served as the nation's capital.

Mrs. Johnson, with "a particular surge of pride," dedicated an 18th century garden in Independence National Historical Park as part of Philadelphia's urban renewal and restoration efforts in Society Hill, a 100-acre area with some of the nation's most historic sites, including famed Independence Hall.

In a brief prepared speech, the President's wife dedicated the garden "to the foresight of our founding fathers who brought our nation into being and the vision of the city planners of today who are blending the heritage of the past and the beauty of the present into contemporary living."

She pointed out that the founding fathers planned for beauty, too. When the first Colonial Assembly met here, Mrs. Johnson recalled, it gave instructions that "the grounds near the statehouse shall remain a public open green forever" — with walks and trees laid out "to render the same more beautiful and commodious."

"That was the hope of 1737," said the first lady, "and it is the hope of today."

Mrs. Johnson said President Johnson especially asked her to bring his greetings to all those who made possible the recent restoration of Society Hill "where patriots walked," with a blend of new apartments, old homes and historic buildings.

The garden she dedicated, "now preserved like rose-leaves in some lovely old jar," was created by the National Park Service with the aid of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society and the Philadelphia Society for the Promotion of Agriculture.

Mrs. Johnson flew here from Washington for a day's tour of the Society Hill project, considered one of the nation's most unusual urban renewal projects.

May Force Negotiations

British Union Rejects
Striking Seamen's Plea

LONDON (AP) — Britain's top union leaders rejected the striking seamen's plea for support Thursday night, dealing them a hard blow. This, coupled with weakening in the ranks of the strikers, may force the union to the negotiating table soon.

"You can expect no further help from us. You are on your own," leaders of the Trades Union Council told the National Union of Seamen after unsuccessfully trying to persuade the chiefs of the striking union to negotiate a settlement of the four-week-old strike.

William Hogarth, boss of the seamen's union, said that despite the TUC rebuff his union could carry on the strike for "at least another eight weeks."

But the seamen's strike fund of $453,000 is believed to be nearly exhausted. The union sent letters Thursday to all TUC unions asking for contributions. The 23,000 striking seamen are each drawing $8.40 a week in strike pay.

The seamen's union wants the strikers' work week reduced from 56 hours to 40 so they will get overtime pay for the other 16. This in effect would give them a 17 per cent raise in pay, far above the 3.5 per cent guideline which Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government is trying to hold.

A government-appointed tribunal has recommended that the work week be reduced to 48 hours immediately and to 40 hours in a year's time. Shipowners have said they would be willing to reopen negotiations on that basis. The seamen are paid $42 a week.

However, government sources said it was unlikely the navy would be ordered to move strike bound ships as this might increase support for the strike.

But as the strike continued to depress the pound sterling and to cut into British exports, the Bank of England appealed to the government and the people to curb their spending in the interest of national economic survival.

Food prices have risen steadily since the strike began on May 15. Cabbages, oranges and lemons have gone up three cents a pound, grapes four, butter 5½, new potatoes a cent, stewing beef four cents, roasting beef seven cents and roasting lamb 14 cents.

Such fish as sole and plaice are up 44 cents a pound. There have been scattered temporary shortages of gasoline and oil because companies move these by inland or coastal tankers which are tied up.

Coal stocks are getting tight. Both the Gas and Electricity Boards are believed to have barely a month's supply on hand. Their supplies are normally moved by barges from mines in the north.

There has been some panic buying of food and other supplies.

Budget Set, Fees Increased
By Trustees At Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Trustees of Ohio State University Thursday approved a 1966-67 budget of $122 million and announced the school's first increase in student fees since 1963.

The budget was submitted for the first time as a single document, replacing a series of individual budgets which the university developed in past years. It reflects a total increase from last year of about $13 million.

Under the new fee schedule, student fees will be boosted by $25 per quarter for resident students and $46 a quarter for non-residents. The increases become effective with the fall term.

The increases will bring the fees to $450 per academic year, (three quarters) for residents and $1,008 for out-of-state students.

Dr. Novice G. Fawcett, university president, said that even with the increases, Ohio State's fees will remain the lowest among the state-supported colleges and universities.

He added that the boosts were necessary if the university is to continue "its planned improvement in education... quality" and remain competitive in the recruitment of faculty and staff.

Referring to the 1966-67 budget, Fawcett said it will enable the university "to maintain the high-quality programs in instruction, research, and service already under way and to continue to strive for improvements in those areas where such improvements are necessary."

Two-thirds of the university's regular faculty are due to receive pay increases which will raise the overall salary average by 5.4 per cent.

State tax revenues are expected to provide about $45 million of the total budget; slightly more will come from earnings of various university agencies; about $21.5 million from student fees, and about $10 million from the federal government.

The total budget figure of $121,947,357 compares with total expenditures for the current year of $108,945,037. Fawcett said about half of the increase of about $13 million is due to increased personal service budgets.

Coal Firm Will Open
Mine Near Benwood

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Consolidation Coal Co. says it will open a mine in the northern West Virginia panhandle employing 350 miners and capable of producing 13 million tons of coal annually.

The firm said Thursday the mine, near Benwood, W. Va., will cost $10 million to develop and equip and reach peak production by 1970.

The mine is to be operated by Consol's Hanna Coal Co. Division. Consol said two customers have signed long-term contracts for the coal, but the customers were not specified.

5,000 View
VFW Parade
In Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — An estimated 5,000 viewed a parade of 76 units in the VFW Post's spring festival parade Thursday night, described as one of the biggest parades here in recent history.

The Wellsville High School band won the best band award and the Beaver Local High School band second in the parade.

East Palestine groups did not compete. The Spinnettes, a girls' drill team from Ellwood City and Beaver Falls, received the most colorful unit award of the Chamber of Commerce and the Golden Angels of Warren the best drill team award. New Brighton American Legion's color guard won first place guard honors.

Rogers firemen received the prize for the newest fire truck and Homeworth firemen for the oldest.

The festival will continue through Saturday night at the post grounds.

Queen To Be Crowned At Saturday's Pageant

Ten girls from the area will participate in the first annual Miss Tri-State pageant Saturday at the Eagles ballroom, beginning at 9 p. m. under auspices of the Modern Matron's Social Club of East Liverpool.

Ten roses will be concealed and the girl who selects the odd color rose will be crowned "Miss Tri-State Queen" and presented with a Savings Bond.

Mrs. Janice Southall, president of the club, will crown the queen.

The girls from East Liverpool include Gloria Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones of Erie St.; Millie Carter, daughter of Millard Carter of Pennsylvania Ave.; Carolyn Southall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Southall of Glenmoor; Stanola Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Curtis of Glenmoor; and Edith Taylor, daughter of Mr. Ruth Taylor of Harker Ave.

Wellsville will be represented by Roxie Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright of Clark Ave.; Olivia McCuen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvel McCuen of Anderson Ave.; and Theresa Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ware of 14th St.

Others are Sandra Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Williams of Lisbon, and Bonita Oliver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Oliver of Midland.

A summer setting will serve as the theme, with the girls making their appearance through a rose-covered archway. They will be escorted by their fathers and then presented to their escorts.

The arrangement committee consists of Mrs. Southall, Mrs. Verna Myers, Mrs. Dorothy E. Peters, Mrs. Lucille Monroe, Mrs. Catherine Williams, Mrs. Annie Mae Jones, Mrs. Sarah Taylor, Mrs. Callie Euill and Mrs. Martha Brooks.

The decorating committee includes Mrs. Josephine Spencer, Mrs. Sara Johnson, Mrs. Mahala Richardson, Mrs. Charlie Mae Scott, Mrs. Ann Pack, Mrs. Almeda E. Smith and Mrs. Eula B. Jakes.

Tickets to the event may be obtained from any club member or at the door. The club is purchasing a life membership in the NAACP movement.

Music will be provided by "The Supremes" of Steubenville.

2 Draw Fines After Mishap

Both the driver and the owner of an auto involved in a mishap Monday night drew fines of $25 and costs today in Municipal Court.

Charles E. Lee, 21, of Lanesberry Rd., Wellsville, pleaded guilty to a charge of operating an auto with license tags issued for another car. James Wilson of Wellsville R. D. 1 admitted a charge of failure to apply for registration.

Both were cited by Patrolman L. E. Richard after the 1957 auto driven by Lee struck a 75-year-old pedestrian on E. 3rd St. The officer said plates were taken from another auto owned by Wilson and placed on the car which Lee was driving.

Jimmy Lee Kraft of 1043 Riverview St. was fined $25 and costs and given a 30-day suspension of his driver's license when he pleaded guilty to a State Highway Patrol charge of speeding May 29 on Route 30.

Robert E. Grant, 19, of Toronto was fined $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. He was cited Monday at 1:30 a. m. by the patrol. A similar fine was decreed for Lester L. Coil of Toronto R. D. 2, cited Wednesday at 6:40 p. m. by the patrol for speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 7.

Acting on the request of the arresting officer, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff dismissed an affidavit in which John N. Taylor of Homewood Ave. was accused of reckless driving. Officer Richard asked withdrawal of the charge, which was filed May 30 after Taylor's car struck a parked car on St. Clair Ave.

A hearing is due Monday morning for Katherine D. McLeavy of Akron, cited by the patrol Wednesday at 6:55 p. m. for driving 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd.

Sentencing Scheduled

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—Nathan Arthur Baillargeon, 26, New Richmond must wait until Tuesday to hear his sentence for the slaying of Paul Slade, 60, a Mount Holly gas station operator.

Baillargeon was convicted Thursday of first degree manslaughter after a three-day trial in common pleas court. Testimony showed he struck Slade behind the ear last Jan. 8 after drinking heavily and the older man died next day.

Viet Nam

would address the three-day foreign ministers' meeting in Seoul, which opens Tuesday. Known as the Asia-Pacific ministerial conference, it will discuss ways in which the participants can develop closer economic and cultural ties.

With politics once more taking a back seat, the official Vietnamese press agency published a communique announcing that Ky had been authorized "to sign and promulgate decrees on all measures relating to taxes, economic problems, foreign exchange and finance" in the next three months.

The implication was that the government intended to take drastic measures to cope with the country's galloping inflation in an effort to win popular confidence before the election Sept. 11 of a constitutional convention.

Under the impact of the war against the Viet Cong and the growing, free-spending U.S. military establishment, the cost of living has risen 55 per cent for working class Vietnamese in the past year. The figure is based on the cost of everyday products required by most of the country, particularly rice. Wages have lagged far behind.

The recent Buddhist campaign against the government played heavily on popular discontent resulting from spiraling prices. Blaming the Americans, Buddhist street orators contrasted the plight of the average Vietnamese with the well-fed, moneyed GIs in Saigon's restaurants, bars and hotels.

Even while the Buddhists kept up the political pressure with demonstrations, suicides and mob violence, a team of U.S. economic advisers worked quietly with government officials to bring the runaway inflation under control. To a large degree, the willingness of the people to stand with the government against the Viet Cong depends on how well it meets the economic crisis.

Just what the American advisers propose for coping with the inflation has not been disclosed, but Ky has repeatedly promised tough measures against speculators and war profiteers. So far one businessman — a Chinese — has been executed for profiteering.

The Communists meanwhile continued their effort to undermine the economy by blasting a power plant at Lai Thieu, about 15 miles north of Saigon. Authorities said 40 persons inside the plant as well as a policeman and several civilians outside were injured.

About half the installation was reported destroyed. The blast was caused by a mine, a spokesman said.

The difficulty of stemming the flow of men and supplies to the Communists into South Viet Nam was underscored by Maj. Gen. Ben Sternberg, commander of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division and a veteran of 26 months in Viet Nam. He said in Nashville, Tenn., Thursday night that 500,000 more troops would be needed to seal off South Viet Nam against infiltration. He noted the length of South Viet Nam's borders and the difficulty of patrolling the jungle terrain.

The United States has about 260,000 troops in South Viet Nam. Together with South Vietnamese and other forces, the allied command has nearly a million men under arms in South Viet Nam. Arrayed against them are an estimated 250,000 men, including 90,000 hardcore guerrillas and North Vietnamese regular troops. A ratio of 10 to one is usually regarded by military men as favorable to putting down an insurgency.

director of CORE, flew to New York after speaking Thursday night at a church meeting in Memphis. King left earlier for Chicago.

Joining Farmer and McKissick on the stage at the church were three Bronx, N.Y., political figures — Nathan Strauss, Democratic candidate for congress; Salvatore Almeida, assemblyman; and Dennis Coleman, a state senator. They said they will join the march.

A Marks, Miss., sharecropper — Armstead Phipps, 58, — died of a heart attack in the noon heat shortly after the start of the march Thursday along U.S. 51. King led a memorial service on the spot.

In Baltimore, CORE leader Walter Brooks announced a Sunday mass protest against the Meredith shooting and that a group would come to Mississippi because "the shot that ripped into the body of James Meredith hit us all."

The Memphis city commission, investigating charges that Meredith was "threatened with eviction from William F. Bowld Hospital on Wednesday, concluded Meredith received the best of medical treatment and "he was informed he could be released or remain longer." Meredith's wounds had been described as superficial.

At the conclusion of Thursday's walk, while the crowd was dispersing near a livestock auction barn south of Como, a white Mississippian approached King and asked that they "communicate through the teachings of Christ."

The man identified himself as Carter Parnell, 49, of Sledge, and said: "If you open your hearts to the teachings of Christ then we won't have any differences to resolve."

King asked the man to eat with him. The man did not respond. "What does the Bible say about segregation?" King asked.

"It says nothing," said the man.

City Continues Work On Lining Of Streets

Street department crews today continued work on repainting center lines on East Liverpool streets.

Work was finished Thursday on Lisbon St. and at least part of Pennsylvania Ave. The job resumed this morning on St. Clair Ave. It will switch later today to the city section of the Freeway and E. and W. 3rd Sts. to the Chester Bridge.

The work began yesterday after the city took delivery of its lining machine, which was overhauled by the manufacturer at Xenia.

Area Woman Hurt By Knife, Pony Injures LaCroft Youth

A Smiths Ferry area woman injured by a knife and a LaCroft boy hurt by a pony were admitted Thursday to City Hospital, where eight other district residents were treated after separate mishaps.

Mrs. Sandra Boyle of Smiths Ferry R.D. 1, wife of John Boyle, was in "good" condition today with a laceration of the left hand suffered when a knife fell from a counter.

Jerry Hanlon, 11, son of George Hanlon of 5th Ave., LaCroft, was in "fairly good" condition with a fractured left foot suffered when he fell from a pony at home and the animal stepped upon his foot.

Keith Beaver, stepson of Terry Booth of Rogers R.D. 1, was treated last night for a laceration of the scalp after he was struck by a winch handle.

Jeffrey Bevington, son of Mrs. Doris Bevington of 338 Ogden St., received abrasions of the back when he fell backward in an amusement ride at the firemen's carnival at LaCroft.

Michael Clutter, son of Harry Clutter of 3B Thompson Pl., suffered a cut on the right leg against a broken vase while visiting a relative.

Larry Taylor of 506 Carolina Ave., Chester, an employee of the Allied Roofing Co. of Chester, received a cut on the left arm on a steering wheel device while at work.

While at work at the Schell Heating Co., Edward Carr of 324 W. 9th St. suffered a laceration of a finger on metal.

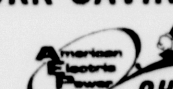

Mildred Humphrey, daughter of Donald Humphrey of 2nd St., Newell, was treated for bruises of the arm after a mantel fell on her.

Mrs. Ruth Hogue of 411 Prospect St. suffered a cut thumb on a bowl.

Maria Perorazio, daughter of Ray Perorazio of 148 S. Surrey Rd., received a cut on the head in a fall from a swing while at play.

'Meanest Thief' Gets Little League's Funds

An intruder who fled with $21 belonging to the East Liverpool Little League won the police department's nomination Thursday for the title of "meanest thief."

Charles C. Cronin of 1631 Holiday St. told the department the money — in both currency and change — was in an envelope that was stolen from atop the refrigerator in the kitchen at his home.

Cronin reported the theft took place between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Wednesday. He said the door apparently was unlocked, as there was no sign of a forcible entry.

Fiberglass bathtubs are now approved for installation in new houses by the Federal Home Administration.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: I save all the little aluminum containers from pot pies, dips and cream cheeses.

When we have our cook-outs, I fill these with individual servings of scalloped potatoes, baked beans, vegetables or whatever else may be used, then set them someplace on the grill to be kept piping hot until served.

They also are dandies for tossed salads placed at each plate, and oh, so handy and wonderful to serve that delicious homemade ice cream in.

No chance, either, of breakage on the patio by small fry or adults.

EVIE FREDERICK

DEAR HELOISE: How can one write on beautiful plastic bottles, etc., with one of those wonderful felt marking pens without having it smear from daily use, and yet be able to change the label?
I'm in a quandry.

DOROTHY BLUE

DEAR DOROTHY: The only answer I have found is to use the opaque-type sticky tape! I always stick a strip of this opaque tape on the container, write on it with the marker (or a pen or pencil), then put another piece of tape over the writing!

I find that no matter how oily the marker is or what brand, it will not go through the tape you have put on. And if you put that other little piece of tape on top of it, you can pick the bottle up with a wet hand and the writing won't smear or go away . . . Also, the tape may be peeled off and the container relabeled any time you change the contents, with no damage to the plastic container.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: When the oldest member of our family was recovering from a serious illness, I noticed how very difficult it was for him to feed himself from a bed tray.

The regular spoon handle was hard to manage, so I gave him an almost forgotten baby spoon with a curved handle.

What a help it was!
MILDRED F. THOMAS.

FROM HELOISE'S KITCHEN

Dear Folks: If you want to knock 'em cold some evening when you have company, try serving whole, culled, refrigerated strawberries which have been put on toothpicks!

Have three little dishes standing nearby with whipped cream, powdered sugar or sour cream. Watch your guests "dip away."

These are delicious when served plain with the side dishes of dip, or rolled in powdered or granulated sugar first, then stabbed with toothpicks and put on the plate.

I know you are thinking about the price of a box of fresh strawberries, but they sure go a long way.

HELOISE.
DEAR HELOISE: If needed, the hem of a too-long dress can be cut off and used to make a new belt for that dress.
MISS MARGARET KEPPL.

Migrant Labor Camp Discussion Set Today

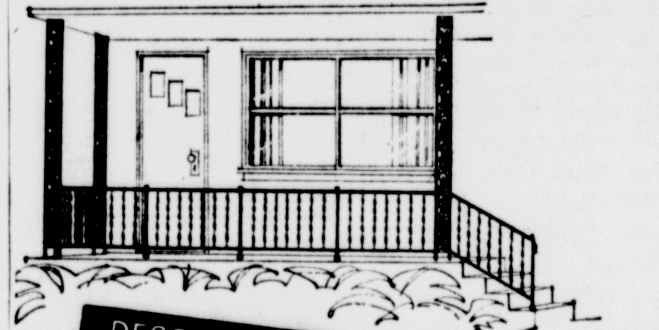

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Nurserymen meeting here today plan to discuss with William O. Walker, state director of industrial relations, the prospects of opening a migrant laborers camp in this area.

The state is considering opening camps for migrant laborers in key areas if federal aid can be obtained.

BPW Holds Installation

Approximately 140 members and guests of the East Liverpool Business and Professional Women's Club witnessed the installation of 1966-67 officers and heard an address by Mrs. Marianne B. Campbell, second vice president of the Ohio Federation of BPW clubs, following a dinner Wednesday at the Inn Town Motel.

Installed for the coming club year were: Miss Joan Witt, president; Mrs. John Behout, first vice president; Mrs. Clark Bradfield, second vice president; Mrs. L. W. Reed, recording secretary; Miss Karole Kapp, corresponding secretary, and Miss Helen Auld, treasurer.

IN THE ceremonies conducted by Mrs. Campbell, various portions of the BPW emblem were described to typify the duties of the officers — with the "Ship of Commerce" representing the treasurer; the "Torch of Wisdom" the corresponding secretary; the "Scroll of Learning" the recording secretary; the "Wand of Mercury" the first and second vice presidents, and the central emblem figure of "Nike, Goddess of Victory" the club president.

As each officer was installed, Mrs. Campbell presented her with a hand bouquet of flowers, the flower colors symbolizing the personal qualities she should bring to her particular office. The president's bouquet contained one of each flower, to signify her role of "harmonious leadership."

In her address, Mrs. Campbell outlined the BPW program theme for the coming year as the "big C challenge," pointing out that all Ohio BPW Clubs "are expected to plan for progress by working with the 5 C's: Club, Community, Country, Cunningham (the National BPW president) and Cowan (the Ohio BPW president)."

She continued to emphasize the theme by stressing the importance of continuing membership, "creating and conveying new ideas to meet challenging changes" and concluding with the phrase "these are all (C) words which will be meaningful in your Club's future."

Wednesday morning, Mrs. Campbell had appeared on radio station WOHL, discussing her duties as general manager of Station WJEH in Gallipolis and her varied professional activities in the National and the Ohio Associations of Broadcasters.

GUESTS introduced at the BPW event included Miss Sally Anderson, 1966 ELHS graduate, winner of the "Nike of the Year" award and a $100 scholarship from the Club, and Miss Kathy Duffy, high school junior, who will serve as president of the 1966-67 Nike Club sponsored by the BPW unit. Both Miss Anderson and Miss Duffy were presented by Mrs. James G. McKinnon, advisory chairman.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Helen Witt of Pittsburgh, mother of BPW president Joan Witt, and 30 members of BPW clubs from Columbiana, Lisbon, Youngstown, Steubenville and Twin-City (Dennison - Uhrichsville). The Youngstown delegation included Miss Evelyn Thomas, director - elect of District 8. A special introduction was also accorded Miss Karen Tolson and her mother, Mrs. Stanley Tolson of Irondele. Miss Tolson is the charter president of the recently organized Findlay Collegiate BPW Club at Findlay and has been named to represent the Ohio BPW Federation as a "Young Career Woman."

Salineville Couple Observes 55th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Rice of 108 W. Main St., Salineville, quietly observed their 55th wedding anniversary Tuesday at their home.

They were married June 7, 1911, at the parsonage of the Church of Christ in Lisbon by the Rev. Traverse Harrison.

Rice retired 14 years ago as a telegraph operator for the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. after 46 years service. He also served 22 years with the Farm Bureau Insurance Co. He is a past patron of the Masonic Lodge. Both are active in civic and church affairs.

They have a son, Dr. Harold Rice, dean at the University of Cincinnati; two daughters, Mrs. Bernice Emerick of Dayton and Mrs. Sara Koenke of St. Paul, Minn., and four grandchildren.

14 Get Notice In Tax Cases

Fourteen East Liverpool residents were served Thursday with notices directing them to appear in Municipal Court Tuesday, June 21, at 9 a. m. on charges of violating the city income tax ordinance.

Signed by D. G. Wilkinson, tax commissioner, the affidavits allege that the individuals failed to file final returns on 1965 income or did not furnish the required estimates of 1966 earnings. The deadlines for both reports fell in April.

The defendants are: John Venev of Minnesota Ave., George C. Adams of 2200 Crawford Ave., Sam J. Brown of 2029 Harvey Ave., Robert L. Boston of 2225 Harvey Ave., Dean M. Beiling of 453 1st Ave., Donald E. Stone of 1224 1/2 Erie St., William W. Talbot of 1136 St. George St.

Norman R. Quinn of 525 Bridge St., Clifford Farnsworth of 920 St. George St., Melvin L. Harris of 1071 Pennsylvania Ave., Charles Cronin of 1631 Holliday St., John W. Fitch of 518 Mulberry St., Kenneth Yost of 460 Mulberry St. and Jesse Melvin of 454 Mulberry St.

Wilkinson filed the charges Wednesday. The court staff then prepared the summonses, which were served on the defendants by Bailiff Wilbert P. Taylor.

Overpass Plans Reviewed By 18 At Local Meeting

Detailed plans and specifications for construction of a $160,000 auto-pedestrian ramp linking together the two dead-end sections of W. 9th St. were studied and discussed by 18 specialists in a session at City Hall Thursday that continued for about five hours.

Known as a "field and office check," the examination of the plans was made by representatives of the Columbus and New Philadelphia offices of the State Highway Department, spokesmen for the regional office of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and employees of W. E. Quicksall & Associates of New Philadelphia, the consulting engineering firm which prepared the plans.

The new structure will span the first city stage of the Freeway, allowing normal traffic again on W. 9th St. after a lapse of several years. The street was bisected by the Freeway construction.

Mayor George E. Willshaw, Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey and Engineer George S. Bloomgren represented the city in the session in the Council chamber. The state expects to let construction contracts some time in 1966.

County Pair Injured When Auto Rams Pole

A Salem man and Lisbon area man were injured when their car veered off a curve and struck a utility pole in the Dungan area early today, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Charles Martin, 24, of Salem, the driver, and Richard Martin, 22, of Lisbon R. D. 1 were taken to Salem Central Clinic for treatment.

Officers said Martin was headed south on County Rd. 407, about three miles north of Route 518, when he lost control on a curve and the 1961 convertible skidded sideways into a power line pole, demolishing the car.

The mishap occurred about 2:30 a.m.

Man Tells Police He Shot Estranged Wife

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—About two months since his latest of several confinements in state mental hospitals, a Newark man walked into police headquarters Thursday night and told the desk sergeant he had just shot his estranged wife.

John Dial, 32, was held for investigation. Mrs. Josephine Dial, 25, was found dead in her apartment here, shot three times at close range with a .32 caliber revolver.

Asleep in a crib was Mrs. Dial's baby, 5 months old.

Dial said that after shooting his wife, he intended to turn the weapon on himself but it jammed.

Kent State Educator Will Address Nurses

Dr. John J. Kamerick, vice president and dean of faculties at Kent State University, will be the speaker for the 55th annual commencement of the East Liverpool City Hospital School of Nursing at 8 p.m. June 17 at the First Methodist Church. The public is invited.

The 46-year old administrator and historian was named to the post in July 1963 after serving as first dean of Kent's College of Fine and Professional Arts. Dr. Kamerick came to Kent in 1956 as assistant dean of the college of Arts and Sciences and a member of the history faculty.

He is the former dean of Lewis College of Science and Technology at Lockport, Ill., and served as assistant professor of history at Marycrest College in Davenport, Iowa.

He also taught at Iowa State University and St. Ambrose College, Davenport, where he was honored with a distinguished alumni award in 1961 for "long and noted achievements" in his profession.

In 1963, he was selected by his colleagues on the Kent campus as "the most honored faculty member of the year at the university."

Dr. Kamerick received his Bachelor of Arts degree from St. Ambrose and his Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts degrees from Iowa State. He also has studied at Columbia University and Western Reserve University.

During World War II, Dr. Kamerick served as lieutenant in the Navy in the Pacific Ocean theater of operations, where he was a navigator, communicator, commissary officer and gunnery officer on a destroyer-minesweeper.

A native of Davenport, he is married to the former Elaine Lenney of Cleveland. They have five children.

Judge's Ruling Due June 20 On Bus Buying Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Judge Fred Shoemaker indicates he likely will have a ruling in the latest litigation over Ohio school bus buying by June 20.

That's the date set by the State Board of Education to open bids on some 800 vehicles ordered by 281 districts.

The common pleas jurist heard Thursday a suit filed by bus suppliers against the centralized purchasing plan adopted by the board.

Shoemaker gave the attorney general's office until Wednesday to file a brief in behalf of the state to counter the one filed by the dealers figuring they'd have to sell buses up to $2,000 cheaper apiece under the state arrangement.

The education departments latest plan would have local districts place bus orders with it, the state taking bids, then local districts dealing directly with the successful bidder.

Judge Shoemaker took no action on the suppliers' request for a temporary restraining order to prevent bid-taking pending a permanent decision.

Training Session To Be Held For Camp Fire Aides

The first training session for counselors and program aides, who will assist with the forthcoming day camp for Camp Fire Girls, will be held from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Wednesday at Echo Dell.

Anyone wishing transportation is requested to be at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. parking lot at 9:30 a.m. Participants are requested to bring a sack lunch. Coffee will be served.

Leaders are to bring their manuals.

The session will cover general outdoor activities, which will be used when the camp opens July 11 at Echo Dell.

Kinoka Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., which sponsors the camp, has announced any girl in the East Liverpool area, whether she is a registered member or not, may attend.

Transportation will be furnished to the camp. For details and registration forms, girls may call or inquire at the council office.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Every community has its quota of chisellers who bum rides to work from the friendly neighbor. They always have a fancy assortment of excuses for not driving their own cars but they fool no one. They simply are saving money on gas, wear and tear on their tires and sometimes parking money.

The other day I had such a character in my car — fifth time that week. What started out as a light drizzle turned in to a cloudburst. The visibility was zero and we nearly had an accident. Fortunately, we arrived at our destination without incident.

The office manager, hearing me tell about the close call, said "I never take my neighbors to work in the morning — I don't want the responsibility. If a passenger is hurt he could sue the socks off you. I've seen it happen."

Someone else said that if he had a car he would make the passengers sign a piece of paper, relieving the driver of all legal responsibility, in case of an accident.

Would such a piece of paper be valid? Does it make sense to you?—MR. ACCOMMODATOR.

Dear Mr.: A signed statement absolving the driver of responsibility in case of an accident may or may not be valid — depending on your state laws. If you were to ask the free loaders to sign such an agreement, however, it might discourage them from bumming rides.

I assume you are a prudent driver so this won't apply to you, but: The passenger who rides with a careless driver just because it's free should get his head examined and sometimes does — in the hospital after the accident.

Ann Strikes Out

Dear Readers: Ten lashes with a wet noodle won't do this time. That would be letting me off much too lightly.

I refer to the counsel I offered "Redding Rose" — the woman who said she could not get up before a group and give her name and address without shaking for half an hour. My advice: "If there is a Toastmasters Club in your town, join it."

Well dear folks, if Rose makes the grade, she'll be the first woman who ever did. The Toastmasters Club is for men only.

I should have told her to join the Toastmistress' Club. Today my face is redder than any Rose in Redding. — ANN LANDERS.

Chiseling Neighbors

Dear Ann: Help, please! My husband is in the Navy and this is the first time we have lived out of Navy housing.

Every few days some neighbor asks me to buy eggs, butter, milk, cigarettes, coffee and what not — because I can get these commodities for a lot less at the Navy commissary than she pays in the supermarket.

I hate to say no, because I go every few days for my own groceries and everyone knows it. However, if I'm caught buying for my neighbors I will lose my commissary privileges.

Please print my letter so my neighbors will see it and stop asking me to break the rules. Thank you.—NAVY WIFE.

Dear Wife: Here's your letter, but don't expect miracles. You are more at fault than your neighbors. If you had not said yes the first time you wouldn't be in this spot now. Cut it out!

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Parents Should Set Good Standards

Do we parents want our children to acquire moral courage? Do we want them to do what they know is right and avoid doing what they know is wrong when it would be much easier for them to do the opposite? Is it possible for us to educate them in moral courage? If we are Dr. Garry Myers consistent, fair and just, it may be relatively easy for us parents to guide the child 3, 10, or 14 to desist from doing certain wrongs while in our presence. But it's harder to guide him to choose to do right in our absence or when nobody else is watching.

Each of us, no doubt, can remember when we chose to do what we knew was wrong, while we supposed nobody would find it out, or while we were away from our parents or a substitute of theirs.

AS SOON as your child or mine begins to go places beyond our sight or hearing, and while he continues to do so, he is often tempted to do or fail to do certain things he knows to be wrong or right. It's very natural for parents to command the child what he should do or not do in their absence, then to ask him later if he obeyed. So when parents suspect that the child has done or failed to do in their absence as they wanted him to do, they put him on trial whether he is 3, 10 or 15.

If he confesses to having disobeyed, a child meets with disapproval or punishment. At 3 or 4 the youngster at first may report (testify) freely. But with more experience, he discovers he may escape rebuke or punishment if he doesn't tell the truth. Having the vantage ground he may do well at lying. But something else happens inside him when he feels impelled to deceive — his relations with his parents also are impaired.

A principle we parents might try to hold to is this: When we suspect a child of some wrong but can't get the facts except from him, let us not ask him, let us not put him on the witness stand or try to force him to incriminate himself.

How then can we hope to guide the child in our absence? By guiding him so effectively while in our presence, in an atmosphere of understanding and love, that he will choose to do right in our absence. Sometimes we might wisely tell the child "We wish you would do so and so or not do so and so," in our absence and approve him warmly if we find out that he has tried to fulfill our wishes. But it's doubtful if we should try to find out by "putting him on trial."

ONE OF the big reasons a child in our absence may choose to act as he wouldn't in our presence is how other children with him then act. Many a child

QUESTIONS Shaw's mounting specialists are often asked:

- What does a new mounting cost?
A simple Shaw's mounting can cost under $25, elaborate ones $200 or more. But consider how small the cost when compared with the value of the diamonds; how small the cost when spread over all the years the diamonds will be worn and enjoyed.
- Is there a labor charge for setting the diamonds in the new mounting?
Not at Shaw's.
- What is the smallest size diamond that can be used?
Any size is remountable.
- What if my diamonds are of different sizes?
Shaw's has many mountings for graduated sizes. Or Shaw's can create a design ideal for your varied diamonds.
- Can any jewelry store or department remount satisfactorily?
Oh no! Your diamonds deserve specialists. Shaw's use experienced craftsmen with "perfectionist" pride. For instance, the head or cup that holds your diamond will be the right size... not one that's stretched or reshaped to fit. Such detail makes a Shaw's job look "right."

Twins Crash 5 Homers In One Inning To Tie Record

Allison's Bid Short; Birds Nail AL Lead

By MIKE RATHIET Associated Press Sports Writer

The Minnesota Twins trailed Kansas City 4-3 in the seventh inning when suddenly Rich Rollins homered. Then Zoilo Versalles homered, and Tony Oliva, and Don Mincher, and Harmon Killebrew.

That brought up Jimmie Hall, with a chance to set a major league record for most homers in one inning.

"I knew about the record," said Hall. "The announcer told everyone that we had tied the record when I was standing in the batter's box. It upset me a little. I know if I was the pitcher, I'd be bearing down that much more."

Hall eventually lashed a pitch that hit high off the fence — and settled for a double.

"I'm going to fine Hall $100 for breaking up a rally," laughed Minnesota Manager Sam Mele, who hasn't had too much opportunity to do that this season.

Despite the homer hammering and the 9-4 victory, Mele's defending American League champions still are in sixth place — three games under the .500 mark and nine games behind front-running Baltimore.

While the Twins still were trying to reach the first division, the Orioles took over first place from Cleveland by beating Washington twice while the Indians and New York Yankees were rained out.

Baltimore won a game that had been suspended Wednesday night, 8-6, and then came back for a 4-2 victory in the regularly scheduled game. In the only other American League game played, Detroit battered Boston 9-1.

The A's pulled out to a 4-0 lead against the Twins with Larry Stahl's bases-loaded triple the key blow in the first inning uprisings against starter Camilo Pascual. Bob Allison doubled in a run in the fifth and Killebrew brought two more across in the sixth with his first homer of the game.

Rollins, pinch hitting, started the homer barrage in the seventh with a two-run shot off Catfish Hunter that put the Twins ahead 5-4. Versalles homered chased Hunter and brought in Paul Linblad. Linblad got Sandy Valdespino but Oliva and Mincher followed with homers that brought on John Wyatt.

Wyatt was tagged for Killebrew's second homer, then stopped the rally by holding Hall to a double.

The Orioles finished off Wednesday night's suspended game against the Senators with a four-run eighth inning rally that wiped out a 6-4 Washington lead. The big blow was Russ Snyder's two-run homer, following a single by Jerry Adair, Camilo Carreon's double and a game-tying single by Sam Bowens.

Boog Powell's 10th home run of the year drove in two runs and lifted Baltimore to a 4-2 victory in the nightcap. Powell's shot snapped a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning.

Dave McNally, who struck out 11 batters in the first six innings, got credit for his fifth victory in seven decisions. Stu Miller finished up.

Norm Cash, Don Demeter and Bill Freehan crashed homers in support of Dave Wickersham's five-hit pitching as the Tigers crushed the Red Sox for their fifth straight victory. The Tigers were aided by 10 walks issued by five Boston pitchers.

Littens Rip Sevys, 13-1; Brights Bomb Burbicks

Second - place Littens blasted league leader Sevys', 13-1, to move a step closer to the top spot in the Pony League Thursday, while George Bright was bombing winless Burbicks, 10-3.

Littens pounded 13 hits and was backed by two - hit pitching by Parsons in recording the victory.

A 10-run 5th inning busted the game wide - open for Littens as it raced away from a 31 lead.

Parsons struck out 13 batters, had two hits, including a home run and batted in five runs in pacing the winners.

Eckles had three hits, and Diddle and Dubberly, two each in adding to the assault.

Kristy and Watson spoiled Parsons' no-hit bid.

Reynolds was the losing pitcher.

Brights used a 10-hit attack that featured a 4 - run 3rd inning and a 5 - run 5th inning to defeat Burbicks.

McHenry, Christian, and McKinnon had two hits each in leading the victory.

Walker was the winning pitcher.

Burbicks, Veteran Glass Snare Little League Wins

Burbicks downed Medics, 6-2, and Veteran Plate Glass belted Vernon Dell, 10-7, in Little League action Thursday.

Talbott was the winning pitcher and helped his own cause with two hits, while Jackson also chipped in with two safeties for Burbicks.

Potters Savings, Tri-State, Potters Trust Win Handily

Potters Savings and Loan, Tri-State Appliance and Potters Bank and Trust captured lopsided victories in the Minor League Thursday.

Charles Greenwood, Rice and Quinn paced Tri State over First National Bank, 16-6, as each had three hits.

Quinn was the winning pitcher, while Carr suffered the loss. Laughlin and Cook paced First National with two hits each.

Pirates Bow As Giants And Braves Win

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

Joey Jay flourished in Philadelphia's hot and humid Connie Mack Stadium and Jim Davenport didn't do so badly in the air conditioned comfort of Houston's Astrodome.

Operating in completely opposite climates Thursday night, Jay pitched a sharp five-hitter as Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 1-0 while Davenport's 11th inning double drove in two runs and lifted San Francisco to a 3-1 victory over Houston.

Jay perspired freely in the steamy atmosphere against the Phillies, but seemed to thrive on the heat.

"I guess I lost about 10 pounds," said the strong right-hander who won his sixth game in eight decisions.

Leo Cardenas drove home the only run Jay needed with an eighth inning single and then grabbed Dick Groat's hot grounder behind second and turned it into a game-ending double play in the ninth.

Davenport, who broke up a 17-inning game against New York with a homer earlier this season, delivered his big double to snap a tie that had existed since the fifth inning and beat Jim Owens, Houston's third pitcher.

Elsewhere in the National League, Atlanta stretched its winning streak to six games with an 8-4 victory over New York and St. Louis downed Pittsburgh 4-2.

Tony Perez started Cincinnati's winning rally with a single after two were out in the eighth. Tommy Helms' fourth hit of the game moved pinch runner Dick Simpson around to third.

Then Cardenas' single broke the scoreless tie.

Willie McCovey ignited the Giants' winning rally with a single. After Jim Hart sacrificed, Tom Haller was intentionally walked, setting the stage for Davenport's big hit.

Rico Carti smacked four hits including a home run and Mack Jones tagged a three-run homer in Atlanta's five-run first inning as the Braves ripped the Mets.

Ken Boyer homered for New York.

Jerry Buchek and Phil Gagliano accounted for all the Cardinals runs with a pair of two-run homers as Al Jackson scattered eight hits for his fifth victory.

Both the homers came against rookie Woody Fryman, who lost his first game after four straight victories.

Roberto Clemente, who had three hits, homered for the Pirates.

Newell Tops Hanover, 5-4

Newell survived a three - run uprising by Hanover in the bottom of the 7th inning to notch a 5-4 victory Thursday in the South Side Hot Stove League.

Dan Foltz pitched the route for Newell, giving up four runs on eight hits. He recorded 11 strikeouts.

Losing pitcher D. Williamson lasted just two innings for Hanover, giving up four runs on three hits. He was relieved in the 3rd by Rick Stevens who surrendered one run on one hit over the final five frames, while striking out five batters.

Rich Gogol had a perfect day at the plate with three hits, two home runs and a double, and he scored three runs. Craig Whittington added a triple to the winning attack.

Dave Cox and a home run and a single and Stevens had a triple and a single to pace Hanover.

Defies Last-Minute AAU Threat

Track Federation Howls Sabotage, Launches Meet

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — The U. S. Track and Field Federation howled sabotage and opened its fourth national championship today in defiance of a last minute threat of Amateur Athletic Union reprisal against athletes participating in what the AAU called "an unsanctioned meet."

The AAU threw a bombshell Thursday night into the two-day USTFF meet, which lured more than 300 athletes, including America's top miler Jim Ryun, to Indiana State University's asphalt track.

It was a dictum by AAU President Clifford Buck that unless the NCAA-backed Federation applied for an AAU sanction all athletes competing here would be ineligible for the National AAU Championships in New York June 25-26.

The AAU meet will determine the selection of the U. S. team to compete against the Russians in Los Angeles July 23-24.

Chick Werner, the Federation's executive director, declared that Buck's action was "an obvious attempt to sabotage the Federation meet by the manner in which it was suddenly initiated."

And Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said in Kansas City "that the statement attributed to Mr. Buck and the AAU is incredible and the timing makes its motivation most suspect."

Federation leaders contended that the AAU got its facts twisted in interpretation of the guideline set by a government five-man panel appointed by Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

"Buck's action violated the basic agreement in the AAU-NCAA amneity that there would be no penalizing of athletes during negotiations," said Werner.

Byers declared, "it is a clear and unmistakable violation of the most important basic intent of the senate moratorium which is to permit complete freedom of competition and to set aside all penalties against competing athletes. The Federation championship is for USTFF members only and requires no AAU sanction. It never has had one during the four previous years of its existence on the comparable weekend each year."

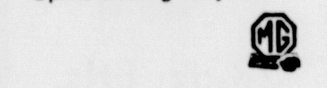

Federation coaches took a somewhat attitude towards the latest outbreak in the lengthy battle between the AAU and the NCAA which seems to be immune to federal peace-making.

Kansas Coach Bob Timmons said Ryun, his 19-year-old star freshman, "came here to run and he will run."

The brilliant Ryun last week ran the mile only one-tenth of a second slower than the world record of 3:53.6 held by Michel Jazy of France and the Kansas seemed a cinch to compete against the Soviets in July.

Board Plans Coach Action At Waterford

Four applicants for head basketball coach at Fairfield-Waterford's Crestview High School were interviewed during a meeting of the board of education Wednesday, and announcement of the new coach is expected shortly.
Resignations were accepted from Mrs. Arlene Kornbau, Fairfield third grade teacher, and Mrs. Ruth Miller, sixth-grade teacher at New Waterford.
Contracts were renewed for a number of non-teacher personnel.
They include Rose Mercer, cook, for three years; Elverda Baughman, secretary, for five years; Martha Hawkins, secretary, for five years; Mrs. Esther Chaney, nurse, for five years, and bus drivers Harold Baker, Walter Fitzsimmons, Ralph Elliott and Glenn Wilhelm, all for five years.
Salary increases for non-teacher personnel were discussed, and a final decision is expected at the next board meeting July 13.
The board discussed further plans for the major school improvement program, and selected a light-colored brick for the Waterford addition.
The Salem Plumbing & Heating Co., which has the plumbing contract, began work this week on the addition and Byron Spate & Son, general contractor, is to begin razing the old section next week.
The board will receive bids for a used vegetable peeler, mixer and set of stack ovens at the next meeting. Student seats are available at the school for $1 each, along with a used wood lathe at the Fairfield School.
The Athletic Boosters Club has begun work on a track at the Crestview Building which will be a quarter mile in length with a 100-yard straightaway for hurdle events. The club will meet again June 21.
Band rehearsals will be held every Monday through June and to July 25 from 11 a.m. to noon.

Merger Plan Boosts AFL Patriots' Stock

BOSTON (AP) — The planned merger of the American and National Football Leagues has raised the price of stock in Boston's AFL Patriots.
The across the counter stock bidding price was $26 with $29 1/2 asked at the close of the market Thursday. On Monday the bid was $16 1/2 with $18 1/2 asked while just two weeks ago it was $14 1/2 bid and $16 1/4 asked.

Wisconsin Court's Ruling Waited On Baseball Case

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin Supreme Court justices have poked and prodded at the keystone of the state's antitrust case against baseball and waited for another day to decide whether it should come tumbling down.
The high court is expected to rule in early July on the National League's appeal of a circuit court decision finding the game in violation of Wisconsin antitrust law for stripping Milwaukee of its only major league team. The court heard the appeal Thursday.
The decision, by Circuit Court Judge Elmer W. Roller, directed the return of the Atlanta Braves to Milwaukee this season unless the Wisconsin city is provided with a 1967 expansion team. The order was suspended pending review by the seven-member State Supreme Court.
Willard S. Stafford, special counsel for Wisconsin, began an assault on baseball's contention that Wisconsin has no authority under state laws to challenge

Batman Mystery Solved

A certain segment of our population not a very large one, it is hoped is concerned over just how Batman and his little buddy, Robin, get back up that "Batpole" after they've returned from a rough assignment in Gotham City.

The Batpole, for those of you wasting your time doing other things during Batman's adventures on ABC-TV each Wednesday and Thursday night, is a long pole down which Bruce Wayne and his ward, Dick Grayson, slide to their Batcave before turning into Batman and Robin and piling into their Batmobile.

EACH TIME they return, however, viewers see the Batman and Robin in their Batmobile heading pell-mell into the Batcave, but never are shown what magic the Dynamic Duo practice for getting back into Bruce Wayne's digs. Do they shimmy up the pole, or what?

A 51-year-old Yugoslav named Serge Krizman is the one who has to provide the answer. As art director for the Batman series, he is largely responsible for dreaming up and designing the gadgetry, and next September when a new set of Batman episodes begins (it's all repeats now) you'll see Batman and Robin being shot upward from the Batcave into the Wayne mansion on small jet-stream powered platforms.

I asked Krizman if he didn't think such super-modern escalating transportation would make the old Batpole appear a bit archaic. He was noncommittal.

KRIZMAN and the whole cast and crew of Batman currently are engaged making a Batman movie to be released in August. The jet-rising platforms can be seen first in the movie.

"We've done lots of new things for the movie which also will be used in the new TV episodes," says Krizman. "There's a Batboat (jet powered, of course), a new Batcycle with sidecar, a Batcopter with bat-type wings — believe me, that wasn't easy to do — and Penguin will have a submarine."

Occasionally, Krizman's enthusiasm for new Bat gadgets runs into a stone wall in the auditing department, where the cost of scientific progress must bow to the mundane practice of showing a profit.

As most art directors are, he is dedicated to detail and indulges in long "discussions," as Krizman prefers to call them, with the producer and director prior to shooting each Batman segment.

"I MUST SAY they go along with me most of the time. The art director," adds Krizman, "is really coming into his own in TV now because producers are more conscious of what goes on that little screen, as are the viewers."

The consciousness of the public interest, at least in Krizman's Batcave, is demonstrated in other mail he's received besides that inquiring about Batman and Robin's Batpole. An 11-year-old fan wrote him to point out that there weren't enough "ports" for the insertion of rods into the atomic pile Batman has for his own private power system, and Krizman also heard from a professor at the University of California at Berkeley suggesting the atomic reactor was in need of more shielding.

"I'm really having a ball with Batman," admits Krizman, whose own career in many respects tops Batman's.

IN HIS NATIVE Yugoslavia Krizman studied architecture and organized the first jazz group in southeastern Europe, recording the first American jazz tune to be heard in the Balkans. That was in 1938 and the tune was "Nobody's Sweetheart."

Krizman had his first art exhibit at the age of 11 at the Royal Pavilion of Arts in Zagreb. Soon after his jazz debut he was commissioned to design the Yugoslav pavilion at the New York World's Fair of 1939. He's been a newspaper correspondent, actor and in 1956 was elected president of the Society of Motion Picture Art Directors.

In the field of designing Krizman had done everything from the show-place offices ordered by Louis B. Mayer when he was head of MGM to an entire "town" for the Samuel Goldwyn studios which included 31 new buildings, streets, parks, stores, etc. He's also a sport car enthusiast and former vice-president of the International Jaguar Owners Assn., but he still has his first ride to take in the Batmobile.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN
An Unusual Appetite Depressant

"Is that big, fat woman your mother?" This whispered question, not intended for her ears, gave one woman the courage to take action. Prior to this time she honestly felt there was nothing she could do about her ponderous weight. Her remarkable letter will help other heavyweight women to take heart.

It all began when she was invited to make a presentation at school because she had excelled in a money-raising PTA project. It was a great effort for her to go up to the speaker's table. She gave the money and was returning to her seat when she overheard the child's query.

HERE is her story, in her own words:

"I left and waited in the car while the children socialized for a few minutes with their schoolmates. My pre-teen daughter and small son were coming through the darkness, when a new pupil remarked, 'Ain't your Mom the fattest thing you ever saw!'"

"My loyal little daughter replied, 'We love her and we don't see her that way. We see her as we would want her to look in the eyes of Jesus.'"

"That night I couldn't sleep. I asked myself, 'How do I look in the eyes of our Lord?' Later my husband had been too tired to go to town shopping with me. Was he ashamed of me?"

"The next morning I drove to the doctor's office. He said, 'If you want help, I will give it to you, but you must use your own will to stay with the diet.' Looking thoughtful, the doctor then asked me what foods I disliked the most, to which I replied, 'Buttermilk and cottage cheese.'"

"HE THEN made up my diet. Handing it to me he said, 'You can count calories as well as anyone else. You have failed on 10 diets, but if you follow this one, you will not fail. On rising, drink a half glass of buttermilk and a half glass of grapefruit juice and have black coffee. At 10 o'clock, eat either an apple, a pear or an orange.' "Lunch: One strip of bacon, crisp, one egg, boiled or scrambled without fat, one small baked potato, no salt, no butter. I was to eat this only after I had drunk a half glass of buttermilk. "Three o'clock: A glass of skim milk and, if too hungry, I could eat a chunk of raw cabbage."

"The evening meal: Lean meat, 3 1/2 oz., 1 cup of carrots, turnips or string beans, 1/4 cup of beets or sweet potato, a combination salad with oil dressing, a tall glass of skim milk with unflavored gelatin. For dessert, cottage cheese. Before going to bed I had a small glass of skim milk."

"Every two weeks I was checked by the doctor. The first year I lost 104 pounds. The last six months I have lost 31 pounds. This morning I weighed 169 pounds. This weight loss has given me the strength to get around like a young person. I have 19 pounds more to lose, then my doctor thinks I should practice holding my weight for a year."

"I wore size 54 and weighed 304 pounds. Now at 169 pounds, size 18 is too large. I am 5'4" tall and I hope to wear a size 16. "To your overweight readers I want to say, 'You can do it.' Our heartfelt thanks to this gallant mother for telling us her story. Congratulations to her wonderful family and to her wise and understanding doctor."

Nolan Throws Punch On Pollution Control

CLEVELAND (AP) — James D. Nolan, Democratic candidate for secretary of state, has thrown the latest punch in the running political battle over progress of Ohio water pollution control.

Nolan said Thursday that Gov. James A. Rhodes' proposals will bring no state money into the fight. The Democrat called on the state government to finance cleaning up the debris on Cleveland's lakefront.

Cool Saturday, warmer Sunday and Monday, a little cooler midweek. Showers around first of week and midweek will average .25 to .50 inch.

Strike Settled; Western Union's Wires Humming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western Union's telegraph wires hummed across the nation again today after some 20,000 striking employees returned to work with a hefty pay raise and other gains in a new contract.

"I consider this a very good contract," said President E.L. Hageman of the AFL-CIO Commercial Telegraphers' Union.

The employees, who averaged $2.52 per hour under the old contract, won pay increases of 4.5 per cent a year for two years, considerably in excess of White House guidelines that seek to hold wage hikes to 3.2 per cent annually.

The strike that began last Tuesday midnight and ended at 4:30 p.m. EDT Thursday crippled Western Union's handling of several hundred thousand telegrams a day.

Leased wire service to government agencies was not affected.

Youngster, 3, Drowns In Lake Near Warren

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — James Allen, 14, Rt. 3, Cortland, who had been swimming with his brother, Roger, 8, drowned in Mosquito Lake north of here Thursday night.

Coroner Joseph Sudimack Jr., said the lake was too rough for a 3-year-old to swim in a quarry pond and drowned in 70 feet of water Thursday.

Scuba Diver Recovers Body Of Youth, 19

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — A scuba diver recovered the body of a youth who couldn't swim but tried to dogpaddle in a quarry pond and drowned in 70 feet of water Thursday.

Darrell Hendrickson, 19, of Rt. 3, Kenton, was on an outing with five Lima youths at a quarry northwest of here when he launched a search for the body, went under.

Nursing Home Operators Agree

Medicare Seen Improving Ohio Hospital Conditions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Overcrowded conditions of hospitals should get better, not worse as has been generally predicted, after Medicare goes into effect, a group of Ohio nursing home operators agrees.

Four operators interviewed at the convention of the Ohio Nursing Home Association here, based their outlook on the Medicare provision which will allow elderly patients to convalesce in nursing homes instead of hospitals.

This, they said, will free hospital beds now taken up by elderly patients who could be moved to nursing homes if adequate funds are available. Such funds will be forthcoming from the government under Medicare.

"A one-day survey made of patients in Cincinnati hospitals recently showed that: 17 of 25 per cent of the patients could have been moved to nursing homes for their convalescence," according to James Glass, head of Glass Nursing and Convalescent Homes, Cincinnati. Beds were available in the homes, too, he said.

"Moving one patient over 65 from a hospital to a nursing home," added Robert Bixler of Oak Ridge Nursing Home, Westlake, "has the effect of making of five hospital beds available, not just one."

"This is because the average hospital stay for an elderly patient is somewhere near a month while the average overall stay is seven days."

All agreed that one of Medicare's biggest benefits, from their standpoint, will be proper utilization of facilities: "Putting the right patient in the right place at the right time," as Glass explained.

This will be the first time, Bixler said, that someone will be studying whether a patient should leave the hospital while he is there, "and can do something about moving him, if he should."

Medicare will provide full financial coverage for a convalescing hospital patient in a nursing home for 20 days, then partial coverage on a $5 per day deductible basis for 80 days. He would not be eligible for additional Medicare benefits for 60 days and would have to return to the hospital for the required three day period.

Long-term patients living in nursing homes will not be affected by Medicare unless they go into a hospital.

Pennsy Slates Aug. 1 Date Of NYC Merger

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Plans have been announced by the Pennsylvania Railroad to make its merger with the New York Central Railroad effective Aug. 1.

The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized the merger April 27 providing certain conditions were met. Boards of directors of both companies have accepted the conditions.

Chairman Stuart T. Saunders of the Pennsy said in a letter to stockholders—in addition to announcing the merger date—that a special meeting would be held July 21 to approve the conditions that the boards of directors already have approved.

Saunders urged their approval, and said the merger "will enable us to create the third of three competitively balanced rail systems in the east and provide necessary resources to withstand the challenge of the two systems already in operation."

He named these carriers as the Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio and the Norfolk & Western, which has been merged with the Nickel Plate and Wabash.

Saunders added that the merger will produce substantial savings and improved earnings. He said it will result in greatly improved service to the public and more economical transportation.

Meanwhile the New York Central announced Thursday it would hold a special shareholders meeting to approve the merger.

Drug Role Listed For Kiwanis Club

The role of the drug industry in improving the health and life expectancy of Americans was outlined by James Johnson, representative of the Smith, Kline & French Co., during the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

Johnson said $350,000,000 is spent annually on research and development of new drugs and that the average cost of a prescription is actually only $3.26—"a modest price to pay for restoration of health."

He spoke of the many drugs such as polio vaccines, antibiotics, tranquilizers and other medicines which have aided the ill, the mentally troubled, the crippled and which in the last 20 years have added 10 years to the life expectancy of Americans.

Johnson was introduced by Glenn Wilson, program chairman.

Fred Simmen, chairman of the hole-in-one committee, announced members of the committee.

Kiwanis lieutenant governor Bruce Cox of Steubenville was among the guests. James Walker, president, was in charge.

Catholics Make 2 Area Changes

Changes in pastorates at the Wellsville and Lisbon Catholic churches were announced today by the Most Rev. James W. Malone, apostolic administrator of the Youngstown Diocese.

The Rev. Gerald X. Curran of the Immaculate Conception Church in Wellsville will be transferred to St. William's Church in Champion and the Rev. William H. Hohman of St. George's Church at Lisbon to St. Joseph Church in Alliance, both effective June 17.

The Rev. James K. Cavanaugh, who is now pastor at the Sacred Heart Church in Rock Creek, will come to Wellsville and the Rev. Stewart J. Platt, now an assistant at St. Edward parish in Youngstown, to Lisbon.

Fr. Curran was ordained by Bishop James A. McFadden on Feb. 2, 1948, and his first assignment was at St. Nicholas in Struthers as assistant. In 1950, he was named assistant at St. Rose in Girard. He was Diocesan Boy Scout chaplain from 1952 to 1966. He was educated at Sacred Heart Seminary, Detroit; St. Mary, Cleveland, and St. Joseph, Rensselaer, Ind.

He has been pastor of Immaculate Conception since 1961.

Fr. Cavanaugh was ordained May 26, 1951, by Bishop Emmet M. Walsh in Youngstown.

His first assignment was as assistant pro-tem at St. James in North Jackson and in September 1961 he was named assistant at St. Edward, Youngstown, and in 1964 pastor of Sacred Heart. Fr. Cavanaugh was educated at Sacred Heart, Detroit, and St. Mary, Cleveland.

Fr. Hohman has served at Lisbon since 1959. He was an assistant at St. Stephen's in Niles from October 1944 to 1951, when he was named administrator pro-tem of St. Stephen's until 1955. He was assistant at St. Brendan in Youngstown from 1955 to 1958, when he was named chaplain at Mercy Hospital in Canton.

Fr. Hohman was ordained by Bishop Hilary Felder in Friebourg, Switzerland, in 1938.

Fr. Platt, a native of England, was educated at St. Mary and Sacred Heart seminaries.

In April 1964, he was named the first chairman of the Diocesan Cursillo. Fr. Platt was ordained by Bishop Walsh in May 1951. He served as assistant at St. Joseph in Alliance from 1951 to 1961, when he was named to St. Edward as an assistant.

Installation Among Events As Groups Meet At Lisbon

LISBON — Miss Meretta Kirt, re-elected president of the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church, presided during the meeting Wednesday night at the church.

The Rev. and Mrs. James E. Maxley conducted the candle-light installation service for new officers before the worship table, overlaid in red. It held a shepherd's staff surrounded by green grass and a single candle to depict the theme of Christ as our shepherd.

Each officer received a miniature red shepherd's staff, tied with gold ribbon and inscribed with the name of the office, and a purple pendant inscribed with the scriptural passage used in their charge.

A vocal duet, "Living for Jesus," was presented by Mrs. Maxley and Mrs. Ben Wilson, who was also the accompanist.

The group voted to purchase a new American flag for the church and donate $100 to the public address system fund, a home service project. Members also voted that any excess in the treasury go to the Cherry Ave. Christian Church of Canton.

Mrs. Robert Peterson conducted the dedication service for the completed "out-reach goal." Projects for the new year were announced by Mrs. Richard Mason, service chairman, including pajamas for Viet Nam children.

Mrs. Nels Scheel, program chairman, discussed the new study books and also gave the secretary's report of the last meeting for Miss Goldie Carlisle, who was unable to be present. The treasurer's report was given by Miss Nellie Gillis.

Miss Kirt, on behalf of the CWF, presented the Rev. and Mrs. Maxley a table lamp in appreciation for their interest and cooperation with group activities. The Moxleys will move to Georgetown, Ohio, in July.

The Anna Huston group served as hostess.

Auxiliary Holds Installation. Mrs. Clara Wilson of Salem was installed as president of the Eagles Auxiliary during a special meeting Wednesday night at the FOE home, succeeding Mrs. Vada Cole.

Mrs. Esther Nicholson and Mrs. Grace Reisinger, installing officers, also seated: Mrs. Maxine Eaholtz, vice president; Mrs. Payne Lewton, chaplain; Mrs. Virginia Hedl, secretary; Mrs. Elva Fife, treasurer; Mrs. Reulah Beiling, conductress; Mrs. Marsha Reisinger, inside guard; Mrs. Doris McCullough, outside guard; Mrs. Arilla Paulini, Mrs. Myrtle Rupp and Mrs. Elma Metz, trustees for 3-2-1 years respectively, and Mrs. Cole, past president.

None Injured In 3 Crashes

No one was injured in three minor traffic mishaps in East Liverpool Thursday afternoon and night, police reported.

A collision on an E. 3rd St. drive-in restaurant lot at 11:02 p. m. involved a 1963 sedan driven by Jerry Duncan, 19, of Williams Ave. and a backing 1966 model truck owned by the Remco Corp. of Lisbon R. D. 3 and driven by Charles D. Houck Jr., 16, of the Marshall Apartment, East Liverpool, officers said.

Houck reported he was pulling onto E. 3rd St. from the lot at Buddie's Restaurant when he backed to give the right-of-way to an oncoming car, hitting Duncan's auto. There was damage to the left front of the auto and the tail gate of the truck.

A halted car also was involved in a collision on W. 8th St. at the westbound Freeway ramp at 7:17 p. m., officers said.

The mishap damaged a 1966 sedan driven by Donald M. Mosser, 42, of Los Angeles and owned by the Hertz Corp. of Pittsburgh and a 1966 sedan driven by Edward K. Carnes, 23, of 342 Kinsey St., officers said.

Carnes told police he was halted at the junction of the ramp and W. 8th St. and his car was hit from the rear. Mosser reported he was looking for oncoming traffic as he approached W. 8th St. There was minor damage to the right front of Mosser's car and the right rear of the Carnes vehicle, officers said.

Meanwhile, Alva C. Collins of Dewey Ave. Ext. told police his 1961 four-door sedan bumped a parked motor bike Thursday at 3:25 p. m. as he backed from a parking space on W. 6th St. at Peach Alley. Neither vehicle was damaged. Collins said he could not locate the owner of the motor bike, which carried Pennsylvania license tags.

'Children's Day' Program Set By Midland Church

Mrs. David Williams and Mrs. Grady Williams will be chairman and co-chairman for a Children's Day program Sunday at 4 p. m. at the Midland First Baptist Church.

The nurses will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the church, with Mrs. Howard Brame as president.

The Johnson's Chorus will rehearse Tuesday at 7:30 p. m., with Junior Choir practice scheduled for Wednesday at 5 p. m.

Thursday at 6 p. m., the Gospelaires will rehearse. At 6:30 p. m. Thursday the S.J.W. Missionary Society will meet for a discussion, "Preparation for the Coming of Christ." Mrs. David Williams will be the leader.

Senior Choir rehearsal will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. under the direction of Mrs. Charles Bynum.

The Rosebud Choir will rehearse Friday at 6 p. m. under the direction of Mrs. Rochell McCauley.

At 6:30 p. m. Friday, the Usher Board will meet, with Mrs. Gertrude Sims president.

The usual Sunday School and worship services will be held Sunday.

Aliquippa Gets Grant For Recreation Site

ALIQUIPPA — A grant to Aliquippa borough for children's recreation was among 34 projects announced today by Gov. Scranton at Harrisburg.

A one-acre plot is to be provided at an estimated cost of $41,270, with the federal government expected to contribute a portion.

All told, Scranton announced approval of some $3.1 million in Project 70 grants.

At Jaycee Banquet

Wellsville Event Honors Students

Thirty Wellsville High School students who have maintained a grade average of 3.75 or better were honored during a banquet given by the Wellsville Jaycees Thursday night at the First Christian Church. Ninety-two attended.

Miss Della Martin, valedictorian of the graduating class, received her fourth-year award.

Receiving third consecutive awards were Debbie Bemis, David Bush, Jean Kornbau, Lin Thrasher and Beth Todd, all Juniors.

Second-year awards went to Cathy Carosiello, Randy Clark, Mary Alice Doyle, Mary Hamilton, Jessica Hawk, Mary Judith Kemeny and Albert Luckino, a senior.

First-year awards went to Eric Bush, Cheryl Cable, Ann Clark, Mattie Coleman, Inez Lauva, Janet Lewis, Cynthia Moore, Nardida Osborne, Rebecca Ricciuti, Janet Stover and Richard Whiteman, freshmen, and Karen Chema, Deborah DeSelle, Sue Leyda, Janet Maylone and Cindy Salsberry, sophomores.

Jerry Russell, dinner chairman, presented the first-year awards. The second-year plaques were presented by Frank Fusco and the third-year plaques by William Telzrow.

Ralph Fusco, Jaycee president, gave the welcome and presented Miss Martin a large trophy.

The Rev. Robert Andrews of the host church gave the invocation. Guests included William Ferrall, Board of Education president, Supt. Lowell Myers, William Menough, high school principal, Donald Lowe, assistant principal, and their wives.

Guest speaker was George Hargraves Jr., assistant superintendent of East Liverpool schools.

Russell said this was the largest crowd to attend the banquet in six consecutive years.

'Consent Form' Due For Mantoux Tests

LISBON — The Columbiana County Health Department will not give Mantoux tuberculin tests to juveniles unless they present a consent form signed by their parents.

Dr. M. K. Singer, county health commissioner, announced the policy today. A negative Mantoux test is necessary before the department will issue the health card required of food handlers.

The consent policy is the same used when the department gives shots in school immunization programs, it was explained.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, June 10, the 161st day of 1966. There are 204 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1692, the first of 20 persons was hanged as a witch in Salem, Mass. A sort of hysteria swept Salem during the rest of that summer and hundreds of people were accused and punished for allegedly practicing witchcraft.

On this date

In 1859, the Comstock Lode was discovered in Nevada. It produced a total yield in silver and gold of more than $340 million.

In 1940, the French government fled from Paris to Tours during World War II.

In 1945, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower received the Jeweled Order of Victory--Russia's highest award.

Ten years ago -- Republican congressional leaders said President Eisenhower would run for re-election. This came one day after Eisenhower underwent surgery at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. He was suffering from inflammation of the lower section of the small intestine.

Five years ago--French-Algerian peace talks being held in France recessed on a note of pessimism in French quarters. But reliable Algerian sources said the situation wasn't as serious as was thought.

One year ago--Mass demonstrations, marches to City Hall and the school board began in Chicago to protest the pace of public school desegregation.

Junior Editors Quiz on SHADOWS

QUESTION: Why is your shadow always bigger than your body?

ANSWER: It isn't. Sometimes your shadow is bigger than your body, but it can also be much smaller. It depends on the angle which the source of light makes to your body. The three little figures above the main picture explain this. On the left, the sun is above the boy and only a little to the right. This means that his shadow, which is the part of the ground from which his body is blocking out the light, is only a short dark area to the left. The middle figure shows the sun sinking down, and now the shadow has lengthened to the left. On the figure to the right, the sun has gone far down, giving the effect we see in the late afternoon. This time the boy's shadow is definitely much longer than his figure is high. The lines from the sun show why this is so. In the main picture Jack is having fun making huge spooky shadows by a candle which is placed low on the floor. Like the boy in late afternoon sunlight, this angle of light throws an enormous shadow on the wall, one which gets soiter the further away it is from the figure. In Java, people are very fond of making grotesque little puppets and then throwing extremely spooky shadows by means of them.

FOR YOU TO DO: Darken a room in your home and use one light, keeping it low so as to throw a shadow up on the wall where you can see it. Use one or both hands in front of the light, wiggling your fingers around so you can make many kinds of funny animal shapes and heads. Animate your shadow figures by moving your fingers.

Brenda Childress of Springfield, Mo., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Girls, Long-Haired Boys Must Use Swimming Caps

Boys who haven't outgrown the Beate haircut will have to join the girls in wearing swimming caps this year at the Midland Veterans Pool.

William Vinovich Sr., chairman of the pool committee, announced today that because of clogging of the filtering and drainage systems by loose strands of hair, girls will be required to wear caps for the first time this year while swimming in the pool.

He also said that boys with extremely long hair also must wear caps, or they won't be admitted to the pool.

Vinovich also reported swimming schedules for children and adults for swimming lessons that will start Monday. Children will be given lessons from 10 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday. Adults will have swimming from noon to 1 p.m. the same days with swimming lessons available if they choose.

Only those who have season passes to the pool will be allowed to take advantage of these two programs, Vinovich said.

The pool chairman also reported that girls or ladies who attempt to wear some of the new styles of bikini swim suits will not be allowed in the pool. Anyone caught wearing suits that are not presentable and decent will be barred from the pool until they begin wearing more respectable suits.

Vinovich has alerted pool manager Victor Martinetti to enforce these rules.

Adult swimming will begin Tuesday from 9 to 11 p.m. and will follow every Tuesday and Thursday.

Vinovich said that a lot of work has gone into preparing the pool for swimming enjoyment and urges all who patronize it to follow the rules so all may enjoy themselves.

Ohio Traffic Mishaps Take 7 More Lives

By The Associated Press

A car and a semitrailer truck that collided in Paulding County resulted in two deaths, the latest among Ohio's traffic fatalities.

The dead:

Clinton E. Jarrett, 20, Liberty Center, Ind.

Gayetta Sue Vaner, 15, Antwerp.

George M. Headley, 78, Wellsville.

James M. Hoerig, 19, Tiffin.

Richard Lee, 23, Dayton.

Brenda Addicott, 15, Jefferson.

Eden S. Webster, 48, Upper Sandusky.

Jarrett's car went left of center on U. S. 24 about four miles east of Antwerp Thursday night and collided with the semi, the Highway Patrol reported. The Vaner girl was a passenger in his car. The truck driver, Lowell Taylor, 42, Ft. Wayne, Ind., was slightly injured.

Headley's auto ran over a steep embankment on a Columbia County road near Wellsville Thursday night.

Hoerig's motorcycle collided with a panel truck that Tiffin police said turned left in front of him Thursday.

Lee died in a Columbus hospital Thursday of injuries received in an auto crash at Newport, Shelby County, last weekend.

Miss Addicott's car was hit by a freight train Thursday night at a crossing southeast of Jefferson in Ashtabula County during a blinding rainstorm.

Webster's semitrailer truck rammed the rear of another semi loaded with steel on Interstate 75 in Warren County Thursday.

A belated traffic fatality report came from Columbus Thursday, where Stephen W. Beal, 21, Mansfield, an Ohio State University senior, died Wednesday. He was injured Tuesday night when his motorcycle hit a barricade and pile of dirt near the OSU campus.

One of the longest stretches of undeveloped beach remaining on the Atlantic seaboard has been turned into Cape Lookout National Seashore.

4-H Club Plans 14th Horse Show

The fourth annual Flying Hooves 4-H Saddle Club horse show will be held Sunday afternoon at the Ivandale Farm on Route 2 near Pughtown.

The show, featuring 4-H members only, will include 16 classes, starting with grooming at 11 a.m. for the host club. The remainder of the classes will be at noon.

The classes include lead line, pleasure pony, pony hitch, pleasure horse, horsemanship, western show, registered quarter horse, goat roping, sack race and others.

Gordon Riggs will be judge. Dale Gardner announcer and Ernest Inman ringmaster.

The club has been active for four years — three years under Mrs. Elaine Flowers. The current leader is Mrs. Robert Dornon.

The Ivandale Farm is made available by its owner, Dr. Dale Williams of New Cumberland.

Seven states have laws requiring school systems to provide lunch periods for teachers. These must be duty-free.

Court Orders Man's Arrest In Litter Case

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today ordered a bench warrant for the arrest of an aged East End second hand furniture dealer who failed to appear for a scheduled hearing on fire department and health department charges alleging he allowed litter to accumulate around his place of business.

W. F. Staats of 507 Virginia Ave. was named in separate affidavits filed by Fire Chief Alfred Van Dyne and Jack Bonner, acting city health commissioner.

When Staats did not respond as the cases were called, the judge asked police about his non-appearance. Officers replied he was served with warrants Thursday at 6 p.m. and then released on his own recognizance to appear today.

Bonner's affidavit alleges that Staats "unlawfully did cause and allow offal, filth and other substances to be collected and to remain in and about the premises at 507 Virginia Ave. to the damage and prejudice of other members of the public."

Van Dyne signed a charge declaring that Staats "did allow to remain on the sidewalks and in the premises located at 507 Virginia Ave. boxes, rubbish, trash and other combustible material."

Ohio Woman Elected

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Walter V. MaGee of Lakewood, Ohio, was elected first vice president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs Thursday night at the group's 75th annual convention. She was unopposed.

Our community and these scholarship recipients will be forever grateful to the late Sara Vodrey Gardner and her brother, the late William N. Vodrey, an East Liverpool drug-gist. These good citizens pioneered the way for our local "Dollars for Scholars" association by appointing The First National Bank to be trustee of a fund to be invested and the income earned from the investments to be given as scholarships in memory of a beloved mother, Laura Vodrey.

The selection of The First National Bank to be the Executor of their estates and Trustee of these scholarship investments, faithful performance and continuity of management. The terms of this charitable trust can be carried out "forever" because this trust is in a federally chartered trust institution and not in the hands of individual trustees who will perish from this earth.

Our Trust Department specializes in Estate Planning and in administering estates and trust funds. We invite you to stop in The Trust Department and discuss confidentially your Last Will problems and estate plan at any time. The attorney of your choice will handle all legal matters.
